Cuban Ship Sunk Three Men Killed

MIAMI (UPI) — A radio distress call picked up here Thursday night reported three men killed in an air-sea attack on a Cuban coastal freighter, but the incident could not be confirmed.

The coast guard said it was sending a plane to the area.

In the distress call a frantic voice reported the well known coastal freighter "26 De Julio"—26th of July, for the name of Fidel Castro's revolutionary group—was sinking 33 miles off the north coast of Cuba.

Rebels Hit By Rockets

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Five Dominican junta P-51 fighter planes twice strafed rebel targets with rocket fire in downtown Santo Domingo Thursday. U.S. anti-aircraft batteries opened fire when the attackers flew low over their positions.

Two American paratroopers were reported killed in a shooting incident with rebels, apparently inside the rebel-held area in downtown Santo Domingo.

State department spokesman Richard Phillips said the United States considered the air attack a violation of the formal cease-fire signed by rival Dominican military factions May 3. He said the attacks violated U.S. efforts to establish a stable government.

U.S. DENIAL

On Washington, the defense department said that no P-51 Mustangs, as the planes now are called, had been given to the Dominican Republic under U.S. military aid programs.

(It said the fighters must have been purchased privately, probably during the regime of the late Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, who was assassinated four years ago.)

Phillips disclosed that both he

Const. Grivel inspects object

Some said it was a bomb, some said it was a joke; but the little white box on the end of a brilliant orange parachute certainly sparked up a dull afternoon when it quietly drifted down at Hillside and Cook Friday.

A crowd of children and a Victoria police constable stood watch under the object from the heavens as it rested in a tree.

"I'll have to make a dive for it if it comes down," said Const. Frank Grivel as he watched the object swing in the wind. "It might be valuable."

"What is it?" somebody asked. "Your gun is as good as mine," said the constable. After 30 minutes firemen arrived and brought it down.

Those who hoped the little box would contain the message: "Help, help, I'm prisoner in a Martian salt-mine" went away disappointed.

The little box said only "return this weather transmitter to the United States government." RSVP.

A $2,000 reward for the repairman, whose name was never disclosed by police, is waiting here at the Bank of Nova Scotia to be claimed.

The best repairman will have to write to the association claiming the reward, and this must be done within 30 days after Lemay has been convicted. This could be a long time coming.

However, he can apply immediately for the $2,000 Scotia reward.

In Toronto the Canadian Bankers' Association has another "open" award, the amount of which is determined after the suspect has been tried and convicted.

This could go into the thousands of dollars.

Bus, Car Crash

LODI, W. (UPI) — A car and a school bus carrying more than 60 children collided Thursday at a country road intersection, killing Mrs. Florence Benzmiller, who was driving the car, and injuring 44 children.

In an apparently unrelated incident, a Marine guard was wounded in the thigh by a 12-inch-long arrow of a type fired by hill tribesmen.

Sporadic action persisted in the region of Song Be, a provincial capital 74 miles north of Saigon. Snipers shot at government positions in the town early in the day and others shot at planes from the jungles south of Song Be.

Hundreds of Leads Round-Clock Hunt

Police have "hundreds" of leads to check out as the round-the-clock search for the killer of 14-year-old Susan Freschi moves into its third day.

"One lead means as much as another," said an RCMP official, as 10 officers, both uniformed men and Criminal Investigation Branch investigators, spent every waking hour on the case.

Talks

Pressed

LONDON (CP) — A Canadian peace initiative for embattled Cyprus gained momentum Thursday.

Foreign Minister Stavros Kostopoulos of Greece announced a second meeting with Foreign Minister Hassan Ettib of Turkey Thursday night and said he hopes to maintain diplomatic communications with him on the Cyprus question.

NAIVE

At a press conference, Kostopoulos had a word of caution, saying "It would be rather naive to think that with a limited number of meetings we could solve this rather complex problem."

Greece and Turkey have been at loggerheads on the Cyprus question for 30 months but the dispute took a turn for the better during the NATO ministerial meeting here when Canada's external affairs minister, Paul Martin, said he would try to bring about a private meeting between the two foreign ministers.

Kostopoulos said he hopes to consider with Ettib the possibility of Cyprus being discussed by Greece and Turkey at the United Nations under a chairman appointed by Secretary-General U Thant.

OPTIMISTIC

Martin said before his return to Canada Thursday he was more optimistic than ever that negotiations might get started.

Canada has more than 2,100 troops in the UN peace force in Cyprus and the job of peace-making is regarded as a UN affair. But NATO is involved, since Turkey and Greece are both members.

Municipal Vote Tory Landslide

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's Conservative opposition made sweeping gains in nationwide municipal election results announced Thursday.

With nearly all the results from 365 town councils in England and Wales, Conservatives showed a massive net gain of 515 seats.

Labor had a net loss of 351 seats and the minority Liberal party a net loss of 108 seats.

Conservative Plank:

Make School Tax Tax-Deductible

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — With an eye on the next election campaign, the Progressive Conservatives have drafted an aid-to-education platform plank which includes making school taxes paid by home owners a deductible expense for federal income tax.

The tax deduction proposal is part of a double-barreled program to assist in the burden of paying for secondary education.

The second feature of it involves an extension of the cap-tal-cost grants for school construction.

This is an outgrowth of the program put into effect by the former Conservative government of aid to building technical and vocational schools.

10 PER CENT

Under this program, the federal and provincial governments made a agreement whereby the federal government contributed up to 75 per cent of the construction costs of technical schools.

Informants say the plan is to extend this contributory system to other secondary schools.

HELP UNIVERSITIES

A third aspect of the Conservative election platform on education calls for increasing the per capita grants to universities to $3 from the present $2.

The Conservative platform will call for a national constitutional conference at which special agreements would be made with provincial governments for assistance to ensure that every Canadian capable of attending university has the opportunity to do so.

MORE MIGHT GO

The aid-to-education plank is based on an estimate that only seven per cent of Canadians of university age actually go to university. An estimated 30 per cent of this age group is qualified and considered to have the ability to graduate from university.

Offensive to Queen

'Mind Business' Earns Reprimand

QUEBEC (CP) — Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson said Thursday that if he went to London it would be to tell the Queen and British government to "mind their own business."

The remark led Premier Léopold Levesque to ask legislative Speaker Richard Hyde to have Mr. Johnson withdraw the statement.

Mr. Levesque said the remark was offensive towards the Queen and "no matter what a person's opinion, we have the right to require at least a minimum of respect for everybody and particularly for the Queen of Canada, in this House."

"The premier is certainly suffering from a sharp attack of royalty," Mr. Johnson replied.

Speaker Hyde asked Mr. Johnson if he had wished to speak about the Queen in disrespectful terms. When Mr. Johnson replied "no," the Speaker said the incident was closed.

The reference to the Queen was made after Premier Léopold Levesque announced that Municipal Affairs Minister Pierre Laporte was making a trip to Europe.

Quebec Goes Ahead With French Dealings

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec government has scheduled new direct negotiations with a foreign government without advising the federal government of its intentions.

Pierre Laporte, Quebec cultural affairs minister, announced Thursday he is leaving today for Paris to open negotiations with André Malraux, French cultural affairs minister, on new cultural agreements.

Mr. Laporte told a press conference the federal government had not been told this was one of the aims of his week-long trip.

Don't Wonder If It's Cancer Take Tests, Find Out Truth

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD
It seems as though several times a day, I read another letter from someone who recites a combination of symptoms and then asks, "Could it be cancer?"

Often the condition is such that I can surmise that it most certainly is not cancer. Again, the only possible conclusion is that it most likely is cancer.

In still others, perhaps the majority of cases, all I can say is that it might or might not be, but some further facts and tests will give the answer.

The big mystery is this: Why, when people have uncomfortable or suspicious symptoms, do they waste time asking, "Could it be cancer?"

If it really is cancer, every day of delay makes things worse, and in time the day will come which marks the dividing line between being able to cure that cancer, and not being able to.

Some of my fellow doctors engaged in battling cancer estimate that 92,000 more lives could be saved this year if everybody observed the simple and almost routine steps to discover cancer sooner instead of later.

An annual checkup will disclose thousands of cases so early that the patient himself will not have noticed any symptoms.

The best chance of cure exists when the cancer is just starting.

The next best chance is when the cancer, although growing, is still localized—still confined within the organ in which it originated.

But when it has spread beyond the original organ, and there is what we call "regional involvement," chances are slimmer, even though sometimes then a cure is still possible—depending, of course, on the extent of the spread.

Here are some figures on the difference in cure rate between localized cancers and those with regional involvement.

Thyroid: 90 per cent if localized; 78 after regional involvement.

Uterus: 81 per cent when localized; 46 after involvement.

Breast: 82 per cent when localized; 47 after involvement.

Colon and rectum: 68 per cent when localized; 34 after involvement.

Mrs. R. L.: The "radioactive cocktail," is a recognized and well-tested means of treating an overactive thyroid.

Police Check All Leads

Susan's body was identified by her uncle, G. R. McLean, a chemical engineer in Edmonton.

"I knew her almost since she was born," he said. "She was a normal girl for her years."

INQUEST ADJOURNED

The inquest was adjourned to Wednesday, June 16, after the medical evidence was completed.

A list of all known sex deviates in Greater Victoria is being checked; these men are being asked their whereabouts at the time of the slaying.

NOT INVOLVED

A 45-year-old man picked up Wednesday on another matter involving indecent assault, was found to have "no connection" with the View Royal killing, police said.

The manhunt is now province-wide, with information coming in from all parts of British Columbia.

ASSISTANCE OFFERED

All police departments in Greater Victoria have offered assistance to Colwood RCMP in searching for the killer.

Residents living along the route taken by the slain girl on her way home have been questioned, in an attempt to find someone who might have seen the killer with or near the girl.

NO RESULTS

This has produced no results. A tracking dog from Nanaimo failed to throw light on which route was taken by the girl and the killer to the scene of the crime.

FROM BUS STOP

The girl is believed to have died between 8 p.m. and midnight Tuesday, as she walked from a bus stop at Helmcken Road and old Island Highway.

The stop is two miles from the girl's home on Chilco Road.

ROUTE UNKNOWN

A path from behind Six-Mile House to Chilco Road, running within 150 yards of the scene of the killing, may have been the route taken by the girl.

The body was found by a volunteer searcher about 2 p.m. Wednesday afternoon.

RETURNING HOME

Clothes, purse and school books were found near the body. Susan had been returning to her home from a riding lesson at Victoria Riding Academy.

She was practising for her first riding competition in the May 24 horse show at the academy.

"There is just no adequate way to handle these men, so they are loose."

When he learned police in Victoria are checking "known" sex deviates, Dr. Earmshaw said: "Something must be done, and I think public indignation over the increase in these har-ious crimes will force authorities to do something."

"This is a shortcoming of our legal system," Dr. Earmshaw told the Colonist, after learning of the View Royal slaying.

Ferry Contract Gets Approval

SEATTLE (AP) — New contracts for 375 employees on Washington State Ferries have been ratified by members of the Inland Boatmen's Union and Local 6, Masters, Mates and Pilots, a count of referendum ballots showed Wednesday.

But the unions rejected an offer for 1,000 seamen from the Northwest Towboat Association, 784 to 10. Their officers were authorized to take strike action, if necessary.

Big Air Conditioner Raises Temperatures

By GARFIELD SPETZ

Ottawa (UPI) — A mammoth air conditioning unit that removes heat from water is causing rising temperatures in Ottawa.

The unit is to be installed Saturday in the new national health and welfare headquarters and it is causing nothing but headaches for federal public works officials and the contractor doing the job.

WEIGHES 12 TONS

The equipment—called an absorption unit—weighs 12 tons and is 20 feet long, nine feet high and six feet wide.

It must be hoisted 228 feet to the top of the 18-storey Brooks Claxton Building housing Health Minister LaMarsh's department.

To achieve the job, an 85-ton mobile crane with a 300-foot boom, the largest of its kind in Canada, has been driven in sections with a police escort this week from Montreal.

One of the sections was 90 feet long.

ONE SLIP

One slip Saturday by the operator who will be guided by walkie talkie from the roof and the 85,000 unit could come crashing 18 stories to the ground through the 36,700,000 building.

The operator won't be able to see what's going on up above and he only has one-foot clearance in the hole.

NO HELICOPTERS

The crane itself was selected only after attempts to get air equipment to do the job failed.

"They were going to use a tiny crane but they found the

NO ONE IN BUILDING

Selection of the date for the lift created still further difficulties.

"We chose Saturday for human reasons," the works spokesman said. "We didn't want anybody in the building while it was being done."

Traffic will be re-routed from the area and nobody will be allowed within 400 feet of the crane.

FEAR HIGH WINDS

"The only thing that can stop us now is high winds," he said hopefully.

"And after it's finished, the only other thing to do is take the knobs off the windows so "they can't be opened."

Centennial Chief Not Quitting Post

OTTAWA (CP)—State Secretary Lamontagne said Thursday he will discuss with centennial committee leader John Fisher the internal trouble of the organization which is planning Canada's hundredth anniversary of Confederation in 1967.

But an aide said it was

"bosh" to suggest either that

Mr. Lamontagne was calling

Mr. Fisher on the carpet or that Mr. Fisher was ready to quit the $24,000-a-year post.

Mr. Fisher said in Regina he had not suggested to anyone that he was fed up or prepared Mr. Lamontagne with any complaints about his position.

The case developed with a report first in the Ottawa Citizen by its parliamentary reporter, Greg Connolley, that a major crisis in the centennial administration could bring about Mr. Fisher's resignation.

Final Good-Bye

Seconds later he collided with another man, fell to his death in waters of Willoughby Bay. The other man, Jerry Lee Todd, just visible beneath arm of man at right, went to hospital with a broken leg. Health Costs Major Mini-Metro Hurdle

By IAN STREET

The government is going to have to sweeten the pot if it wants the mini-metro scheme to catch on here.

I say this particularly in regard to the proposal by the government to establish a regional base for contributing the local share of hospital construction costs.

Preliminary discussions on this subject have been held with municipal leaders and representatives of unorganized areas within the Capital Region.

The immediate reaction of these local authorities was predictable enough. They found it difficult to argue with the soundness of the principle involved, but there were considerable misgivings over the financial aspects of the proposal.

There has yet to be general acceptance of any municipal responsibility for providing health services.

Local governments, faced with seemingly unlimited prospects of increased taxes on the homeowner, naturally are reluctant to accept further responsibilities.

That's why Mayor Wilson said this particular aspect of mini-metro and to a lesser extent other joint services, as well, will succeed or fail in the counting house.

Unquestionably, any regional system for financing a portion of local hospital construction costs, will mean an increase in taxes paid by the homeowner.

The local share of capital costs for hospitals, which under the present system are obtained by voluntary fund drives supplemented by sizable donations from municipalities, averages about 35 per cent of the total.

It can be argued, of course, that the proposed change won't make all that much difference since the money is raised by local effort anyhow.

This doesn't take into account, however, the large donations by business firms elsewhere in the province and as far away as Eastern Canada.

Any regional formula for hospital capital financing will, presumably, place the whole load on homeowners and local firms.

This brings up another very sore point affecting Victoria.

Until a few years ago the city bore the brunt of local support for the expansion of Royal Jubilee Hospital. It still carries the heaviest load although other municipalities contribute.

The city feels, therefore, that it will be short-changed

Action Urged to Topple Castro

Cuba Could Be Next

By GORDON DONALDSON, from Washington

There is growing opinion in Washington that the United States may set to topple Fidel Castro's regime in Cuba, using the Dominican Republic uprising as an excuse.

President Johnson is being urged to use the Dominican revolution as an excuse to attack Castro, who is accused of financing it.

Rightwing advisers, who now have the ear of the tired and harassed president are promoting more sabotage attempts inside Cuba, a new unleashing of the anti-Castro Cubans in Miami and a possible naval blockade of Castro's island.

In the Dominican Republic, on the next Caribbean island over from Cuba, the U.S. has more than 30,000 troops—far more than would be needed to put down the revolution now headed by rebel President Francisco Caamaño.

If the American people fully accepted the official U.S. line that the Dominican revolution is an attempt by Castro's forces back to President Kennedy's statement of Sept. 1962, that the U.S. would "do whatever must be done to protect its own security and that of its allies."

So far they have not swayed this story.

Influential senators, including Sen. Robert Kennedy, have said Johnson has gone too far.

Sen. Kennedy made a complete break with Johnson by declaring that "our determination to stop communist revolutions in the hemisphere must not be construed as opposition to popular uprisings against injustice and oppression just because the targets of such popular uprisings say they are communist-inspired or communists or even because known communists take part in them."

Now former vice-president Richard Nixon, the eternal opportunist, says it's high time the U.S. turned on Castro, instead of stamping out the revolution he inspires.

Other leading Republicans are behind him. Right-wing newspapers and magazines are howling for Castro's blood while other newspapers like the New York Times and Herald Tribune wonder just what Johnson is getting himself into.

Johnson has been accused up and down the country of following the tough anti-communist line recommended by Barry Goldwater last fall. This was overwhelmingly rejected by American voters.

Despite massive protests in universities by students who have state department truth squads off their campuses, Johnson knows he can always rally the American people by shouting loud enough that the country is in danger from Communists.

Goldwater couldn't do it because he was a lone voice in the political wilderness. Johnson has the massive U.S. propaganda machine behind him.

The new Johnson Doctrine proclaimed last week takes the Monroe Doctrine a big step further and utterly destroys the basic concept of the U.S.-dominated Organization of American States.

The Johnson Doctrine claims an American right to move in anywhere in Latin America not just to attack Communism, but to halt the threat of Communism.

Johnson sent the marines into the Dominican Republic without consulting the 20-nation OAS which has as its basic precept that no country shall occupy another without the consent of the rest.

The original object of the OAS charter was to keep out the U.S. marines.

In two weeks the president has rushed before live TV cameras seven times, pre-empting popular programs and driving the TV executives frantic.

He appears weary.

The strain of his first big test in foreign policy in Viet Nam and the Caribbean weighs heavily.

Johnson is relying on many of the same advisers—McGeorge Bundy, Dean Rusk and Robert McNamara—who guided President Kennedy through the Cuban missile crisis of 1962.

But he does not, this time, have the support from the country that Kennedy enjoyed.

Johnson waited until there was absolute proof of Soviet offensive missiles in Cuba before taking his hard line.

This time, the state department has produced a list of Communists allegedly behind the Dominican revolution which has been greeted with the utmost scepticism by many of the most influential American papers.

Despite massive protests in universities by students who have state department truth squads off their campuses, Johnson knows he can always rally the American people by shouting loud enough that the country is in danger from Communists.

Goldwater couldn't do it because he was a lone voice in the political wilderness. Johnson has the massive U.S. propaganda machine behind him.

The most frequent criticism of the president is that he seems to over-react to almost everything, and this appears to have been the case in the Dominican Republic.

This tendency to over-react at the moment of crisis is true of Johnson not only in the Dominican case, but even in his own personal conduct.

Critics of the administration also argue that the president's timing, his tone and some of his techniques were perhaps ill considered and less precise than the crisis required.

Some think he tends, for example, to work too hard, and to talk too much and too often about sensitive foreign policy matters which best lend themselves to the quiet, more reflective diplomatic channels within his government and among Allies.

The feeling in some quarters is that the president, who is not a deep student of foreign policy, should and needs to deal with the delicate questions of diplomacy within the formal framework of the Cabinet, the National Security Council and other governmental machinery designed to produce a responsible, orderly dialogue under the pressure of crisis.

And yet, Johnson cannot seem to get away from his overwhelming drive to dominate personally every aspect of every question, be it the Dominican Republic or Viet Nam.

What this produces at times, are decisions made not in calm exchanges between the president and his top advisers, but rather in a kind of disorderly executive process, which lends an air of chaos and confusion to the White House.

Some diplomats and even administration officials trace certain presidential failings in the Dominican crisis to Johnson's apparent lack of historical perspective.

That the president does not seem to have a clear sense of history might also be argued in the case of Viet Nam, or the multilateral nuclear force, or even his failure to send Vice-President Hubert Humphrey to the funeral of the late Sir Winston Churchill.

Johnson in the Dominican Republic again seems to swerve away from some of the important lessons of history in this hemisphere.

And despite Johnson's claims about a communist conspiracy in the Dominican Republic, the administration's public evidence on this question has, if anything, been less than conclusive.

There is also some evidence to suggest that U.S. Ambassador W. Tapley Bennett in the Dominican Republic misread not only the communist threat, but even the very nature of the original rebellion itself.

Ready for Cruises

Heralding start of Alaska cruise season, CPR's Princess Patricia left Victoria Thursday, after spending winter here. Vessel once served on CPR's popular Vancouver-Victoria-Seattle triangle run. —(Bud Kinsman)

Tide Data Part of Survey

Tidal studies in the Cordova Bay area May 18 and 19 will serve as a pilot survey for a program aimed at finding a solution to Greater Victoria's sewage disposal problems.

The program, to begin at the end of May, will cost Greater Victoria municipalities an estimated $70,000.

POLLUTION BOARD

Initiated at the request of the provincial pollution control board, the program will be carried out by Associated Engineering Services Ltd., an Edmonton firm.

Although it is not part of the capital region survey, the tidal studies will provide information needed for the survey.

It will let local authorities know whether it is cheaper to build a central sewage treatment plant, or build an outfall system to pump raw sewage out to sea.

This year's tidal studies will supplement information collected in similar studies last June.

STRIPS OF PAPER

In last year's tests, long strips of paper were scattered on Cordova Bay.

The strips were photographed from aircraft at half-hour intervals.

This year, bright-colored dyes will be used as well.

Using results of last year's and this year's tests, test directors may come up with a basis for predicting lateral dispersion and dilution of sewage and other effluents.

Major study participants are the fisheries research board, Canadian hydrographic service, and the air division of the provincial department of lands, forests and water resources.

Free Medical Care Due Indians—Judge

BATTLEFORD, Sask. (CP)—A Saskatchewan judge Thursday ruled all Indians in the province should receive free hospital and medical care from the federal government.

Judge J. M. Policha made the ruling in magistrate's court here when he found Walter Johnson of Battleford, a treaty Indian who lives off his home reserve, not guilty of charges of failing to pay compulsory premiums under the province's hospital and medical care plan.

He said it may open up "a whole new era of consideration."

"It would seem to require consideration about how far this is intended to extend and the decision probably will be looked at in higher courts."

Judge Policha based his ruling on a treaty signed in 1876 between the Crown and the Plains, Wood and Cree Indians.

The treaty provided that the Indians would be cared for by keeping a "medicine chest" at the house of each Indian agent.

Dave Newsham of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan Hospital Care Act

counsel for Johnson, contended his client was not subject to the provisions.

Judge Policha also contended his client was not subject to the provisions.

Under present regulations Indians on a reserve or living off the reserve for a period of less than 12 months are exempt from paying the medical care premium.

Mr. Newsham also contended his client was not subject to the provisions.

Every 45 $\frac{1}{2}$ seconds in Canada, someone receives a free blood transfusion.

Area Big as France —But Empty of People

VANCOUVER (CP)—Trade Minister Loffmark called Thursday for greatly increased immigration measures to facilitate populating British Columbia's north country.

Mr. Loffmark said the northern half of the province, north of Prince George, is as big as France, but has scarcely anyone in it.

Coast Loggers In Convention

More than 300 lumbermen from Western Canada and the U.S. gathered in the Empress Hotel Thursday for the 1965 Olympic Logging Conference.

They came from points as far apart as Oregon and Alaska to attend the two-day get-together, where exchange of information on new developments in the industry is combined with recreational activities.

This year the conference marks its 20th anniversary. Nineteen of the conferences have been held in Victoria.

High on the list of discussion topics are the new technique of balloon-logging, which involves the use of a triangular helium-filled balloon anchored about 600 feet from the ground; and the current picture of timber sales.

A report on the latter will be delivered today by Lloyd Gilmore, supervisor, Olympic National Forest, and E. C. Gockrell of the Washington State department of natural resources. On the lighter side, today's activities include two golf tournaments at Royal Colwood Golf

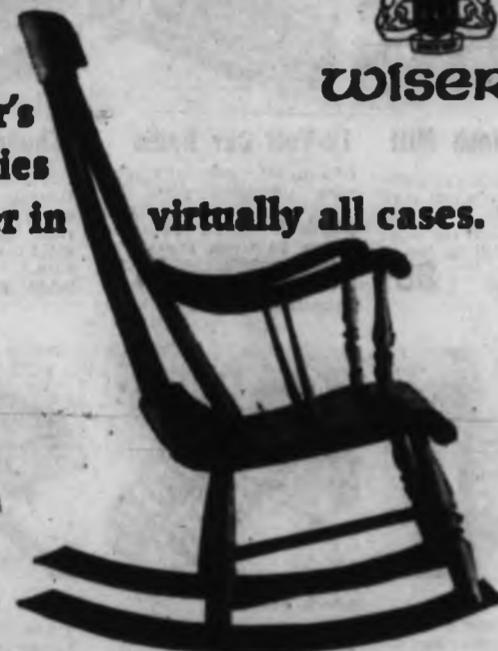

Compare the age, plainly marked on each bottle of Wiser's whisky with any other brands in their price classes. You will find, on the average Wiser's whiskies are older. And "older" to Wiser's means aged in wood... and "married" in wood—a process of returning the spirits to wood after final blending for a further period of quiet aging. So for the best whiskies, the best value—drink one that's OLDER and WISER'S.

For good values in well aged whiskies Wiser's Du Luxe, 10 years old; Wiser's 100, 6 years old; Wiser's Old Rye, 5 years old; Wiser's Special Blend, 4 years old.

Wiser's whiskies are older in virtually all cases.

Driver's Fines Total $250

A total of $250 in fines was imposed on Michael Hanley, 621 Simcoe, in city magistrate's court Thursday after he pleaded guilty to charges of careless driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Prosecution evidence showed that Wednesday evening Hanley drove his car in reverse on Ontario through a stop sign on Montreal, striking a truck and narrowly missing a pedestrian, then left at high speed.

His licence was suspended and he was fined $150 on the hit-and-run charge, while he received a $100 fine for careless driving.

Herbert J. Handyside, 4229 Springridge, pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving and driving under suspension and was remanded to May 27 for pre-sentence report, on bail of $250.

He had hit a telephone pole near Burnside and Tillicum Wednesday night, causing $400 damage to his truck.

A former Arizona resident was fined a total of $70 on two charges following an accident on Johnson Street April 30.

Lydia Halverson, 512 Rutherford, was fined $20 for possessing no valid driver's licence and $30 for careless driving after her car turned on its side. There were skid marks of 102 feet.

The Arizona woman had expired April 17. She had been in the province for more than a month.

James E. Burnett, 1194 Esquimalt, pleaded guilty to careless driving and was fined $50 as a result of an accident on Johnson Street on the same date.

Police evidence showed that his car struck another after leaving skid marks 210 feet long on dry pavement.

Darold A. Hadley, 1147 Colville, was fined $20 after he pleaded guilty to a similar charge as a result of an incident May 3 on Yates Street. He was observed speeding between Vancouver and Quadra, and ran a red light.

Gene Denul, 3809 Telegraph Bay Road, pleaded guilty to being a minor in possession of liquor and was fined $20. He had been racing at 55 miles per hour on Burnside on April 27, narrowly avoiding an accident after crashing the centre line. He was accompanied by two children.

History Under Hammer

TORONTO — Auctioneer Ben Ward-Price and his men have started to cart away the Victorian furniture and paintings from a house once occupied here by Sir John A. Macdonald, Canada's first prime minister.

Mr. Ward-Price said the house will be empty of everything but memories by mid-June.

He's transferring everything — including a huge bed in which Sir John was said to have slept — to his mid-town galleries. His auctioneer's hammer will start thumping June 23, and the sale will continue daily until "everything is sold."

While the Toronto parking authority holds title to the land and says it needs the property as a parking lot, Controller Margaret Campbell says a private group will buy the house as an historic site for $18,000.

Mrs. Campbell, long interested in saving the house, also said a trust fund will be set up to raise an additional $22,000 so that the furniture can be purchased.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan.—Once Mrs. Simpson Mass, now 103, fought Sioux Indians in the Dakota Badlands. Now a wheelchair patient at Veterans Administration Hospital here, he has been awarded the first of 13 Indian Ware medals.

NEW YORK — Three smooth con men talked their way into the apartment of Mrs. Carol Gimbel Lewenthal, once the wife of baseball star Hank Greenberg and now wife of movie producer Marlon J. Lewenthal. The Lewenthals, a cook, chambermaid and elevator operator were locked in closets while the thieves took $50,000 in jewelry.

NEW YORK — A former air force enlisted man who says his heart still flutters when he hears the Star Spangled Banner. Robert Glass Thompson was sentenced to 30 years in prison for spying for Russia for six years.

Questioning Rebuffed By Skipper

ST. IGNACE, Mich. (UPI) — Capt. Martin Joppich of the sunken limestone carrier Cedarville refused to submit to cross-examination Wednesday during the U.S. Coast Guard Inquiry into the collision of the freighter with the Norwegian merchantman Topdalsfjord last Friday.

He said during earlier testimony before the U.S. Coast Guard board of inquiry the ship had experienced trouble with both its radar and radio-telephones this spring.

Seven bodies of Cedarville crewmen have been recovered from the Straits of Mackinac where the Cedarville went down. Joppich testified he computed the Cedarville's speed in the last 63 minutes before the crash to be 12 miles an hour — almost full speed.

He said he couldn't explain the high speed during the fog.

Housing Act Being Eased

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons gave first reading Thursday night to amendments to the National Housing Act that would greatly increase lending powers of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

The legislation will enable CMHC to make larger loans for homes under new regulations announced last Friday by Citizenship Minister Nicholson, minister in charge of federal housing policy.

Girl Killed By Air Drop

—SUVA, Fiji (AP) — A 16-year-old girl was killed when a package dropped from a plane hit her at Bataitari, near Tavau, in the Gilbert Islands. The plane was dropping supplies to American personnel conducting a geodetic survey of island groups.

invited them to the White House "because after looking at some of the cartoons you have drawn, I thought I'd invite you over to see me in person."

MONTREAL — A Court of Queen's Bench jury acquitted three men charged with capital murder in the 1961 hammer slaying of underworld figure Keith (Kooley) Pearson.

The acquittal of Armand Laroche, 35, Bonsai Daoust, 33, and Raymond Cane, 35, brought gasps, then handclapping from spectators.

BOSTON — A brown manilla envelope arrived in the mail Wednesday at Mayor John F. Collins' office, containing $5,300 in small bills — plus a slip of paper saying "tax money."

Mayor Collins sent the money for deposit in the city general fund.

WELLINGTON — Prime Minister Keith Holyoake said the New Zealand government fully supports and approves of U.S. action in South Vietnam but has not yet decided how it could best help the South Vietnamese people "in their tragic plight."

Simpson

MIAMI—Identifying herself as the wife of Georges Lesmey and saying she's come here to help him fight deportation to Canada to face a bank robbery charge, Lisa Lesmey Lesmey has herself been ordered deported.

OTTAWA—Opposition Leader Dietrichs has asked the government if Georges Lesmey visited Canada April 23 and travelled on a Canadian passport in the name of Joseph Heme Roy. Immigration Minister Nickleson promised to report on the matter.

NEW YORK — Montreal freelance writer and former television commentator Michelle Dugas pleaded guilty to charges of illegally bringing from Canada 30 sticks of dynamite and three blasting caps which, the government contends, were to be used to blow up the Statue of Liberty, Washington Monument and the Liberty Bell. Judge William H. Merhans reserved sentence until June 8, when Miss Dugas could receive a maximum five-year term and $5,000 fine.

VANCOUVER — Bruce Hawkins, 28, of Vancouver, received his third sentence for contempt of court when he refused to stand when Magistrate Douglas Hume entered his courtroom. Hawkins, who received a three-month sentence for the contempt, was previously sentenced to one month and three-month terms for refusing to stand.

Great Powers Have Until 1968 To Stop Spread of A-Bombs

LONDON (AP)—An American official said Thursday the world's great powers have until early 1968 to stop the runaway spread of nuclear weapons.

"After that, as many as 20 countries will be able to manufacture cheap but deadly atomic bombs," the source said.

The source said Washington is satisfied that the Russians and French are in general agreement with the American and British in their wish for an early non-dissemination pact between the nuclear powers.

Solarium to Accept Mural Students Made

It's been up since last fall, but it will be officially received May 25.

"It" is the giant aquatic mural at the Queen Alexandra Solarium for crippled children.

The work of students at Oak Bay Senior High School, the mural will be officially accepted by the Solarium's honorary president, Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes. A special ceremony has been arranged for 11 a.m. and representatives of the school board, the university and the art gallery are expected to attend along with many of the students who helped design and build the mural.

Russia to Help India

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Premier Alexei Kosygin Thursday promised India "unlimited" aid in both the political and economic fields, according to Indian sources here.

The sources said the Soviet leader made this pledge in a speech at an Indian Embassy lunch given in his honor by visiting Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri.

They were optimistic that the Soviet Union would grant the economic assistance Shastri is seeking on his week-long visit.

Treatment for Addicts

VANCOUVER (CP) — De-in the centre when it opens and Challenge is sponsoring the only three of them are teenagers, Rev. L. A. Pritchard said Thursday.

"There is a tremendous need for this type of development. Besides the 20 who have already applied for assistance, up to 12 B.C. penitentiary inmates are asking for help when they are released in the fall. They are supported by 40 churches of seven denominations. Teen chard.

Mr. Pritchard is executive president for the Vancouver area of Teen Challenge, an international non-profit organization supported by 40 churches are addicts," said Mr. Pritchard.

Seagram's salesmen used to have a tough time selling 83

Our salesmen got a lot of calls but sold very little whisky back in 1933. People wanted whisky that burned all the way down.

And 83 was smooth, civilized, easy tasting whisky.

Joseph Seagram refused to make it taste any other way. He would have lost his shirt, excepting that a strange thing happened. As years went by, the tastes of people changed. They wanted smoother and smoother and lighter and lighter whisky. And 83 was there to give them exactly what they wanted. So 83, the flop, became 83, the hit.

Serious Problem

Resources Council Studies Water Policy

Formulation of a national water policy rates as one of the most serious problems facing Canada, the national council of resources ministers decided here Thursday.

The council, an advisory body representing the federal government and 10 provinces, set up the basis upon which initial steps will be taken to achieve this aim.

SECRETARIAT STUDY

Resources Minister Ray Williston, chairman of a two-day meeting in Victoria, told reporters he couldn't detail what steps are to be taken at this time. But it is expected the permanent secretariat of the council will make studies in the next year.

Discussions on water policy took up most of the afternoon session yesterday. Mr. Williston said the time was mostly spent "ferreting out specific problem areas."

BETTER FOR ALL

Though the federal government is vitally concerned in the overall picture, the chairman said, the 10 provinces cannot "slough the whole problem off onto Ottawa."

Water resources come within provincial jurisdiction and the sooner the efforts of individual provinces are co-ordinated for the good of the nation the better, it will be for all, said Mr. Williston.

NINE MINISTERS

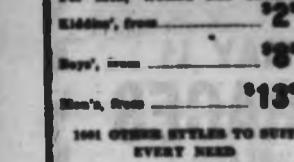

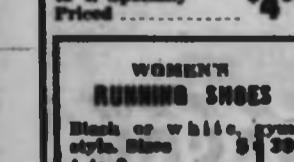

Resources ministers from eight of the 10 provinces and Arthur Laing, federal minister of northern affairs, are participating in the two-day meetings which end this afternoon. Quebec is represented by Eric Gourdeau, assistant director of planning for natural resources.

Dairy Workers Reject Offer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Employees of four dairies here have asked for a government supervised strike vote after rejecting wage increases recommended by conciliation officer George Carmichael.

The employees, members of the Teamsters Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees Union (Ind.), voted 320 to 3 against accepting the recommendations, a union official said.

The strike vote, involving employees at Dairyland, Jersey Farms, Palm Dairies and D. Drakes' Dairy, is expected to be held in June.

Dr. Stuart Peters is representing the ailing Newfoundland minister of mines, W. J. Keough.

"DELIGHTED"

Mr. Laing told reporters after the first day's meetings that he was "delighted with the way things were going on every matter discussed" so far.

Mr. Williston said it was "a very fruitful day."

The conference also discussed the need for greater co-ordination of wildlife programs on a Canada-wide basis.

Mr. Williston said discussion pointed up the need for both research and better management.

He said both federal and provincial governments need stepped-up programs in the field.

One of the chief areas of discussion affected migratory birds, he said.

Raymond Tow, representative of the British Ministry of Pensions and National Insurance, will visit Victoria Tuesday to interview British war pensioners, prospective pensioners, and British National Insurance pensioners.

Appointments should be arranged early, either by calling at the Canadian Pension Commission, 805 Government, or by telephoning EV 4-7134, local 14.

OTTAWA (CP)—The habitual smoker up and to hide basic personality problems.

"Not only is smoking absurd, regressive and infantile, but it is eminently masochistic."

The smoker showed masochistic tendencies by continuing to smoke while knowing there is a well-established relationship between cigarettes and lung cancer.

"He has a secret appreciation of the irreparable harm he is doing to himself."

Dr. Emerson Douyon, chief psychologist at the Montreal Association for Retarded Children, education and research centre, minced no words in his address to 75 teen-agers who are attending the Canadian conference on smoking and health.

He compared smokers to drug addicts and alcoholics who need some crutch to prop them-habit, he may become anxious about the amount of smoking he is doing. Worry about smoking tends to increase his smoking.

"He has to increase his daily dose to calm his anxiety."

The way out of the circle is not easy, he told his young audience.

how to get out of a vicious circle, why begin? I ask that of the young people here who have not yet made choice."

Publicity campaigns aimed at frightening the people to stop smoking were liable to backfire.

"Most people tend to think that they are right—that it is okay for them to smoke. Fear campaigns may only make them rebel and smoke all the more."

Instead, he suggested that discussion methods used in schools and on television, may be the most productive way to change people's ideas about smoking.

AL MILLAR could be among the missing when Victoria Maple Leafs line up to be introduced for their first Western Hockey League home game next season. A trade or an intra-organization shift is quite possible . . . Al Layens scoffs at reports that Boston Bruins may shift Andy Neibert from Portland Buckaroos to San Francisco Seals next season but he is worried about the possibility the popular, and still very good, veteran is serious about retirement. If he decides to carry on Neibert could extend his consecutive streak to an almost unbelievable 1,000 by approximately mid-season . . . Howe Young must be running out of chance-takers but reports have it that Ned Pyle of the Seals is willing to gamble that he could get enough ice time out of Young to make the effort worth while . . . Don't be surprised if Ted Lindsay can be persuaded to extend his comeback through a second season . . . Incidentally, Detroit Red Wings didn't win an NHL championship between 1957, Lindsay's last previous season with the club, and 1965, when the fiery winger came back to rejoin his former teammates. It may have been no coincidence . . . with John Cheeser, who played with Rochester this past season, scheduled to join Johnny Bower to make up the two-man goalkeeping combination for Toronto Maple Leafs next season it wouldn't be any surprise if Detroit reclaimed Terry Sawchuk . . . a tongue-in-cheek prediction by Jim Coleman that Andy Bathgate was to be the next captain of the Maple Leafs seemed to afford Toronto officials some amusement when it was reported to them during the WHL meeting in Seattle this week . . . perhaps yielding to his players, coach French Imms has drastically sliced the Toronto pre-season schedule to less than a dozen games and the Maple Leafs won't be seen on the west coast this fall . . . Claude Laboure, the pleasant French-Canadian who came out of a year's retirement to give Victoria's Maple Leafs a big lift on defence, liked it while here and wants to return.

JAKE LAMOTTA, the uninhibited former world middle-weight boxing champion who is playing Big Julie in a New York production of "Guys and Dolls," feels that boxers are a natural for the performing arts.

"Us prize-fighters," Lamotta is quoted by Dink Carroll, "appear in front of thousands of people with hardly no clothes on. We're proud, we're not ashamed of our built. We know we got the stuff. We're all exhibitionists."

Sophia Loren couldn't have explained it better.

* * *

JOE LOUIS was the kind of guy golf's Harvey Hustle, money's liked to know, reportedly losing more than a small fortune on his faith in his golfing ability. But he did win on occasion, and one of his victims was none other than Sam Snead, who is unhappy indeed at times like that.

"I never heard of you giving anyone a handicap when you were in the ring," Snead remarked sourly in reference to the strokes he'd given Louis.

"Tell you what," Louis replied, "the two of us is going to have a five-round bout and I'm going to concede you the first four."

MARCEL PELLETIER caught the eye of King Clancy during the Central league playdowns with three games that Clancy claimed was the best goalkeeping he had seen all season. The ex-Victoria Cougar is likely to be back in the WHL next season with Los Angeles but having caught Clancy's notice and with his 38th birthday due in December he seems ready ready for Toronto Maple Leafs . . . Trophy-maker Gar Taylor puts blood as well as sweat into his creations and is recovering from his second losing bout with his equipment . . . Keith MacKenzie, who had never been in like predicament before, is also recovering—from the shock of being left alone by Ben Auld, forgetful type about such items as car keys . . . Related congratulations to Jim and Tom Dickson, George Becker and Bill Heath for ending it there after losing their first game in the North Shore bonspiel and going on to win the second event . . . Jackie Gleason, and one can surmise this, likes to golf in comfort. His cart has a TV set, a portable bar and a walkie-talkie. And he owns seven complete sets of clubs, including a gold-plated outfit, in addition to 156 putters . . . Keith Snelling and Derek Laumann have issued a challenge—$25 per man—open to any tenpin combination in the city . . . Bill and Ade Fuller are reported to be resuming Victoria citizenship again, and that means much of their time next season will be spent at the Victoria Curling Club . . . Victoria Shamrocks have been a little more than disappointing so far this season, a situation which could change when team-leader Harry Ashburn finally gets into strip . . . "What I like about Victoria," Toronto-president Stanfied Mayhew said at the WHL meeting, "was the hard core of hockey fans. They were always there even when things were going bad. It shows that if we can give Victoria a better club we can expect better support."

Three Homers Help But Still Not Enough

Victoria Carlings out-homered Sooke Forest Products, 3-2, in Victoria Softball League action Thursday night at Heywood Park, scoring three runs on circuit blasts by Steve Bishop against one for Gordie Eve, but it wasn't enough to stop the woodsmen.

Optimists Knock Off Bernies, 3-2

Evening Optimists handed Bernies their first loss of the season, tripling them, 3-2, to move into a first place tie with the Bernies in Connie Mack League baseball action Thursday night at Marigold Park.

Winning pitcher was Tom Halloway, Brent Baker hurried for Bernies.

At Windsor Park, War Amps scored their first win of the season, defeating Al's Esso, 3-2, behind pitching of Rick Foster.

Scots Fans Thunderous

Nothing Like That Roar

Frequent contributor to the Daily Colonist sports pages, Robin Jeffrey is touring Europe this summer. Here is title of The Hampden Roar.

By ROBIN JEFFREY

GLASGOW — Love, is the greatest experience — but the poet never saw Scotland play soccer at Hampden Park.

Since it was opened about 50 years ago, Hampden Park has been the site of Scotland's international soccer matches, and as such has provided a kind of perpetual battleground for the venting of the warlike spirit of the Scots. Scotland is noted for — among other things — its good whisky, good soldiers and good soccer players — and the three are always in evidence at Hampden Park.

The Hampden Roar itself was a flop and ended in a 0-0 draw, but it was the extra-curricular stuff that brought the Hampden Roar. One of the Spaniards punched Denis Law, a Scottish hero who ranks with Robert the Bruce. "Off, off," roared the crowd demanding the suspension of the Spaniard.

After listening for years to stories of Hampden, I got my first taste of it on a Saturday night (May 8) when Scotland's finest played Spain. To my untrained eye there appeared to be a capacity crowd of 150,000 — Hampden is the biggest stadium in Britain.

But I was surprised later to find that there were only 80,000. "Hampden," my neighbor said, "is a verba deceiving."

So what I saw was a below-average strength Hampden — but that was enough.

The Hampden Roar (a sort of dull rumbling like a major earthquake or a dozen squadrons of jet planes breaking the sound barrier) is more potent than any Bronx cheer and older than the Mersey Sound. The Hampden Roar has reportedly struck terror in some of the world's greatest soccer players.

I can believe it.

The Hampden Roar itself was a flop and ended in a 0-0 draw, but it was the extra-curricular stuff that brought the Hampden Roar. One of the Spaniards punched Denis Law, a Scottish hero who ranks with Robert the Bruce. "Off, off," roared the crowd demanding the suspension of the Spaniard.

After listening for years to stories of Hampden, I got my first taste of it on a Saturday night (May 8) when Scotland's finest played Spain. To my untrained eye there appeared to be a capacity crowd of 150,000 — Hampden is the biggest stadium in Britain.

But I was surprised later to find that there were only 80,000. "Hampden," my neighbor said, "is a verba deceiving."

So what I saw was a below-

Knockout Kills Detroit Boxer

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Heavyweight boxer Lucian (Sonny) Banks of Detroit died early Thursday in hospital of brain injuries received Monday night when he was knocked out by Leontis Martin.

The 24-year-old fighter had been unconscious, except for a brief rational period in his dressing room, since the knockout. Death came to the 207-pound journeyman boxer at 4:35 a.m.

The fatal blow was a right to the temple by the 182-pound Martin in the ninth round of their scheduled 10-round bout as the two fighters traded lefts and right to the head on even terms. Banks slumped to the floor and his head struck the canvas. He was counted out with one second remaining in the round.

CARRIED OFF

The fighter was not revived immediately and was carried to his dressing room on a stretcher. He regained consciousness after treatment by physicians but he was taken to the hospital as a precautionary measure for further examination. He lost consciousness again and an emergency operation was performed Tuesday morning to remove a blood clot from his brain.

Banks, who once put heavyweight champion Cassius Clay on the canvas only to lose to him, suffered "brain stem damage and a sub-dural hematoma" from Martin's punch and the striking of his head on the floor, according to Dr. Robert S. Andre, the neurosurgeon who performed the operation.

A sub-dural hematoma is a blood clot which forms between the dura, or third layer of the skull, and the brain, a result of hemorrhaging after a severe concussion.

Frank Wilmann Jr., chairman of the Pennsylvania State

Athletic Commission, said after the operation that the bout had been a "tough, bruising fight" and the injury "could have happened to anybody." He said he planned no investigation and he pointed out that both fighters were "in excellent physical condition" before the bout.

TERrible BLOW

Wildman termed Banks' death a "tragic but unavoidable accident." He said "boxing has suffered a terrible blow in the loss of this fine young man but it doesn't deserve to be held in total disrepute for this reason."

Until the time the fatal blow ended the fight, Banks had appeared to be the eventual victor. Less than two minutes earlier, he had staggered his opponent with a vicious right which caused Martin to go into a clinch to regain composure. Then came the flurry of punches which ended in the tragic knockout.

RESTLESS NIGHT

Martin did not learn of the damage his blow had inflicted until the next day. He said he went home after Banks had recovered consciousness in his dressing room but he spent a "restless night."

The news of Banks' condition left Martin shaken. He went to the hospital and stood silently in tears for a brief time at the bedside of his motionless former opponent.

"I've been praying all day," Martin said as he left the hospital. "It could have been me."

Islanders On Team

Nine Island girls have been selected for the Western Canadian first and second field hockey teams, the Vancouver Island Ladies Field Hockey Association announced Thursday.

Girls are: first team: Anne Bridge, centre; Gillian Thomas, right wing; Nancy Hill, right inner; Pat Clarke, right half; second team, Kath McCann, right back; Rand Harris, left back; Elizabeth Whitney, left wing; Joy Speight, goal; Anne Stanbridge, reserve.

Team practices will take place at Victoria High School, Sunday at 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Newest Rider

REGINA (CP) — Vern Holloway, 21, University of Utah, has been signed as split end and defensive corner line-backer for the 1965 season by Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Football Conference.

"I've been praying all day," Martin said as he left the hospital. "It could have been me."

OUTDOORS

with Alec Merriman

Start looking for the black ant hatch. It could be any moment now and anyone lucky enough to be hand when it starts will get into some wonderful fly fishing for trout.

The big bite only lasts a few hours. The trout go crazy, fill themselves with ants as rivers and lakes literally boil with trout. Then the fish are too full to eat anymore. There is poor fishing for a day or two afterwards.

Cowichan River is producing fair trout fishing in River-bottoms and above Skutz Falls.

Cowichan Lake is producing well with trolling better than fly fishing. Marpole Bay is good for fly fishing. Other good spots include from the west at the foot of the lake, on up into the narrow, off Youbou, top end of the lake, and north arm.

Saturday is the big day for the St. Louis Men's Club trout derby on Cowichan Lake, with any angler who obtains a $1 entrance ticket eligible to compete for some fine prizes.

Fishing time is 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Last weekend saw Victoria Outdoors Club and Island Mountain Ramblers clear 1 1/2 miles of Cowichan River footpath above Vaux Road on the lower part of the southbank trail. Victoria Fish and Game members worked from the middle part of the trail below Mile 68 bridge. They will be out again this weekend and have issued a call for volunteer workers, whether or not they are fish and game members. If interested call Lorne Ebell at 475-4774 or Ted Priske at 478-4875.

All lakes and rivers are worth trying, but some are better than others. San Juan and Harris are full of steelhead. Prospect, Qualicum, Somesos, Shuswapian, Whiddle, Spider, Cowichan, Puntledge, Elsie, Flora, Lower Campbell, Fry Lakes are all reported good.

Buffaloes will hold a kids' fishing derby at Sprout Lake May 22.

Salmon fishing is just starting to pick up. Bannock Inlet is a good bet for weather and fish, although it wouldn't be described as hot.

Big runs of big-for-this-time-of-year coho are reported off Swallow and west coast, which might include a big season.

There are so many coho that commercial trailers are shaking 100 to 150 coho blues of their lines each day and are having difficulty getting their lures below the illegal coho to the legal springs.

Some coho — earlier than within recent memory — were reported off Breche Bay last weekend, but only commercial putter boys were there to get them and they aren't allowed to take them yet.

New regulations now approved at Ottawa forbid commercial fishing for coho in any waters from Dec. 1 to June 14 and from Dec. 1 to June 30 in the east coast of Vancouver Island waters from Campbell River to the easterly section of area 20 from a line from San Juan Point magnetic south to international boundary.

Approval has also been given to the banning of all commercial salmon fishing in areas 23 to 29 (Campbell River to William Head) from Oct. 1 to April 24 each year, and in area 20 (Juan de Fuca Strait) from Nov. 1 to April 24.

New sports catch limit — four salmon 12 inches or more for each fisherman in any day — becomes effective June 1.

Some limit catches of blues are coming from Chemainus, Ladysmith, Nanaimo, Clayoquot and French Creek. Qualicum expects to have boats out for next holiday weekend. Blues have arrived at Campbell River.

It is Open House at the Big Qualicum salmon spawning project today. Everybody welcome, with events starting at 1:30 p.m.

Trade Minister Ralph Lofmark thinks fishing terrific in the north Island. In 40 minutes, fishing with Roger Linn of Port Hardy in Quesnel River, they landed one steelhead and 14 trout.

Putter Fleet (fishermen) are organizing into a Pacific Putters' Association to join the battle for rehabilitation of salmon runs and to keep tabs on any moves for license limitation that may hit them.

Chairman is Ralph Quance and secretary is Norman Arnold.

For the second time in two weeks and for too many times in recent years the navy housing development sewer line has broken in Esquimalt Lagoon. Pressure should be brought on the navy to clear up the extreme health hazard once and for all... and pronto.

One Playing District For City Basketball

The districts of Victoria and Saanich were amalgamated into one playing district, the Greater Victoria District, recently at the annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Amateur Basketball Association at Nanaimo.

The new district, brought about because of a shortage of teams in the former districts, incorporates all the territory south of the summit of Malahat Mountain.

The directors of the VIABA agreed to enforce rules on eligible players, and set up suspensions as penalties.

Also, action was recommended to bring playing floors up to required standards.

Hull Voted Byng Trophy

MONTREAL — Leftwinger Bobby Hull of the Chicago Black Hawks has been voted winner of the Lady Byng Trophy, awarded at the end of each season to the National Hockey League player "adjudged to have exhibited the best type of sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct combined with a high standard of playing ability."

Hull succeeds teammate Ken Wharram, who last year became the first Chicago Black Hawk to win the Lady Byng in 19 seasons.

Selection was worth $1,250 to Hull — $250 for leading the poll in the first-half voting.

BURNER-UP

He received a total of 80 points in the two votes, 50 in the first half and 30 in the second half. Alex Delvecchio of Detroit Red Wings led the second-half voting with 56 points and finished as runner-up to Hull with 36 points. Delvecchio's showing was worth $750.

Hull won the trophy despite 32 minutes in penalties, the highest penalty total for a Lady Byng winner since Billy Burch made it despite 40 penalty minutes in 1927.

KEON THIRD

Behind Hull and Delvecchio came Dave Keon, Toronto centre, with 44 points.

Others who received consideration with their point totals were: Camille Henry, Chicago (30); Claude Provost, Montreal (27); Phil Goyette, New York (22); Bruce MacGregor, Detroit (16); Red Kelly, Toronto (11); Don Marshall, New York (10); Norm Ullman, Detroit (9); Henri Richard, Montreal (7); Dean Prentiss, Boston (5); John Bucyk, Boston (2); Bob Rousseau, Montreal (1); J. C. Tremblay, Montreal (1).

Derby Winner Ready For Preakness Test

BALTIMORE (AP) — Lucky Debonair's sore heel will not prevent the Kentucky Derby winner from starting in Saturday's $150,000-added Preakness, a veterinarian said Thursday. Dr. Alex Hartill said he was sure the colt "is all right" after treating the right hind heel of the favorite who will face eight other three-year-olds, in the 90th running of the middle leg of the triple crown at Pimlico.

"Actually, it is only a very minor thing," Hartill said. "Swelling developed in the ankle Wednesday afternoon and caused concern in the camp of the owner, Mrs. Ada L. Rice of Chicago.

"Lucky burned his heel when he breasted the other morning (Monday)," said Hartill.

"There was a slight infection due to sand working into the burn and once I removed the sand and cleaned the area, the abrasion will heal promptly."

"I was delighted to see the horse in such good condition."

WILL STILL RUN

With a sigh of relief, trainer Frank Catrone said: "the swelling has practically disappeared. Of course, we still have to run the race."

The deadline for scratching is 45 minutes before the 3:45 p.m. post time.

Catrone said his judgement was to enter the Derby winner in the 1 3/16-mile race and then wait to see if the injury clears up. It cost $1,000 to enter and another $1,000 to start.

With nine starters, the Preakness will carry a gross value of $150,000 with $128,100 going to the winner. Lucky Debonair was out of the money in his lone start last year and has a 1965 record of six victories and three seconds in nine starts and total earnings of $257,200.

At the Gallery

Canadian Art Sparkles With Vitality

By INA D. D. USTREOFF

The current show of Canadian watercolours, drawings and prints, at the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria until May 23, has a freshness and vitality not always present in the more comprehensive exhibitions of Canadian artists put together by the National Gallery of Canada.

This time it is drawn from purchases made for the Gallery's permanent collection and the result is a distinctly good show.

Miss Kathleen Fenwick, curator of prints and drawings, has been primarily responsible for the exhibition, the preparation of the catalogues and for carrying everything through to a successful conclusion.

To ensure the best selection of work being done in all parts of Canada, W. S. Lieberman, curator of drawings and prints at the Museum of Modern Art in New York, was invited to judge the entries.

In recent years, drawings, watercolors and prints of all kinds have been establishing a higher ranking for themselves than ever before, and some of the galleries have been giving preference to the graphic arts at the expense of the more popular means of expression.

In the field of etching, embossing is producing some lovely prints that come under the classification of relief prints, and there is recessed or intaglio printing.

James Boyd of Ottawa works in metal relief which he describes as a collage, but this has not the sensitivity of his embossing of paper. Abu Slim is his contribution to the current show.

There are the beautiful relief prints by Albert Dumouchel—Premier Labour and Le Mantement de Froidure.

In the watercolors, Takao Tanabe has a lovely one entitled Curving space.

Some of the pen drawings I particularly like are Untitled by Peter Ochs, with its dynamic movement created by partly overlapping pen lines; and Anne Kipling's Dawn-Dog Mountain for its vitality.

There is an arresting gouache Untitled No. 4 by Jan Mennen in an almost cruciform composition which makes strong use of the unpainted areas of the white paper.

In powerful black brush lines, Jacques Hurtubise communicates the feeling of being trapped within a confined space.

70 Students To Visit Victoria

Seventy French-Canadian students, out to "discover their country," will visit Victoria this summer.

Described as "serious" types, the young men, members of the Club Jeunesse-Camping, will tour Canada during their summer vacation.

In order to get the most out of Victoria, the director of the tour is asking for information and the names of people who can assist.

An advance party of two will be in Victoria this month to make arrangements and contacts.

Power Boats to Circle Island

Race for Trophy, Fun

The Van-Ile race is a power boat event with a difference.

Starting July 18, the three-week race is divided into two sections.

The first is from Nanaimo to Bull Harbor, at the north end of the Island, the second is from Bull Harbor, down the west coast of the Island and around to Victoria.

Winners in both sections will gather points toward the Jerry Bryant Skipper-of-the-Year Award.

About 50 boats are expected to take part this year.

In a predicted log race, entrants must predict the time it will take them to reach each check-point.

There the similarity stops.

All along the course, yachtsmen may stop to fish, swim, camp, do some exploring, or just admire the scenery, and they are not penalized for the time they spend at it.

The event takes on the appearance of a yachtsmen's convention afloat.

The first day, entrants cruise from Nanaimo to Pen-Harbor, about 30 miles.

That night, yachtsmen head off to a banquet and get-acquainted party.

June 19, the fleet heads for Stuart Island, about 64 miles.

June 20, the boats travel 62 miles through Greens Point Rapids and Whirlpool Rapids to Minstrel Island.

Next day the fleet travels a wide, circuitous 54-mile route through Sutlej and Retreat Passages to Sointula on Malcolm Island.

June 22, the boats dash for Port Hardy, and beyond that, Bull Harbor, and the end of the first leg.

The race's final leg, from Bull Harbor to Victoria, will take the fleet two weeks to complete.

Only about one-third of the distance covered by the yachts will be on the course.

The rest will be taken up with scenic cruises among the islands and inlets of the west coast, fishing, exploring and camping.

Every craft will carry an observer, who will travel on different yachts during the day, and return to his home boat at night.

The International Power Boat Association, which organizes the race, has scheduled the finish and awards party in Victoria so contestants can go straight from the Van-Ile to the Gold Cup races in Seattle.

The Van-Ile race is run every two years, alternating with the Alaska Cruiser Race.

They Had to Give Her Credit

Spending Spree Over for Ann

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ann Ayleen Foley's merry ball of living for a month on a free bank credit card is over.

She managed to spend about $1,500, including a whirl in all the rides in Disneyland.

The Cinderella coach which Ann partied with at her splurge was a convertible.

She turned the car in at the rental agency after driving it on a vacation tour touching Sacramento, Fresno, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara and Monterey, Calif.

Miss Foley, 25-year-old office secretary from Waterford, S.D., feels she did rather well spending $1,500 in a month.

And she did fulfill her assignment—to buy everything she needed without spending a dime in cash. The project's purpose was to demonstrate the versatility of the bank's credit card.

"I was living on about $275 a month before this came along," she said. "I'll be going back now to that kind of budget or it might be even a little lower. But I'll survive."

The Bank of America

picked Ann from about 100 girls who responded to its advertisement saying "girl wanted for experimental research project by leading financial concern."

Victorian, Moss Differ on Belts

Stirling Moss may be a great racing driver, but he's talking through his helmet on the subject of seat belts.

This was the view of one Victoria sports car enthusiast as he digested Moss' views on lap-belts in The Daily Colonist Thursday morning. Moss said he would feel safer in a car dripping with gasoline than one equipped with lap-type seat belts.

LIVING PROOF

The sports car driver, who did not want to be identified, said he and his wife are living proof of the effectiveness of lap-type seat belts.

The two were touring in their sports car on Easter weekend. The car was forced onto the shoulder of the road, and skidded into the road embankment.

"My eye-glasses were found about 15 feet ahead of the car," he said. "If we hadn't been belted in, we would have been thrown from the car."

"Of course, shoulder harnesses would have given us more protection, but the seat belts were 100 per cent better than nothing."

Talks between management and a B.C. Forest Products union grievance committee, on hiring a full-time first aid man for the sawmill division graveyard shift, will continue today.

non-political organization. We are not organized to aid organizations that are political or controversial."

He would not say whether the cancellation had come from the Vancouver provincial office or from local officers.

Col. Symons first knew of the booking when he read Thursday's Colonist announcing the cancellation.

Chairman George A. Barr is out of town.

Bookings are generally routine matters, made through a house committee chairman. Victoria committee chairman Edward Thomas said: "I am not permitted to comment."

The Humanist Fellowship secretary-treasurer, Dr. Marian Sherman, said no reason had been given when the cancellation was telephoned by a caller who refused to identify himself.

WRITTEN CONTRACT

"We did have a written contract which was dated May 11 and signed by the house committee."

The contract was mailed to her after she had forwarded four copies of "the usual forms."

Under "describe fully activities planned," Dr. Sherman said she had written, "address by Peter Light."

PEACE HOUSE

Mr. Light is a member of a group called Vancouver Peace House. He with 15 associates from the mainland city plan a peace march May 21 from Beacon Hill Park to arrive at Comox RCAF base June 2.

Purpose of the march is to protest nuclear weapons at the base.

Mr. Light has announced that at noon on June 5 an attempt will be made to enter the base. If thwarted, they will stage a sit-down for 24 hours, or until arrested.

Chamber Meeting

Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce will meet in the Sidney Hotel Tuesday at 8 p.m.

If arrested they might be charged with an infraction of the Criminal Code—which stipulates a maximum fine of $1,000 or a maximum 12 months in prison, or both when access or egress is blocked.

Two Victorians who plan to join the peace group, at least for part of the march and the four-day standing vigil in Comox, are Mr. and Mrs. John Simpson, both 24, of 320 Beauchamp.

Mrs. Simpson, a social worker with the provincial government, said, "I'll take part in the civil disobedience if I am permitted. I am prepared to go to jail if necessary."

She and her husband, who is employed by the Royal Trust Company, are "applicant visitors" in the Society of Friends (Quakers) in Victoria.

Haidas Poor, Suffering Claims Fishermen's Union

VANCOUVER (CP) — The United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) says that the Haida Indians on the Queen Charlotte Islands suffer economic privation and some are living in conditions of abject poverty.

It says housing conditions are deplorable with people living and bringing up children in damp, cold, leaky, broken down shanties and houses.

And it says that the Indians are treated with hostility and brutality by the RCMP and are discriminated against in hospital treatment.

All this on some islands that have "some of the richest timber resources in the world" and valuable mineral deposits.

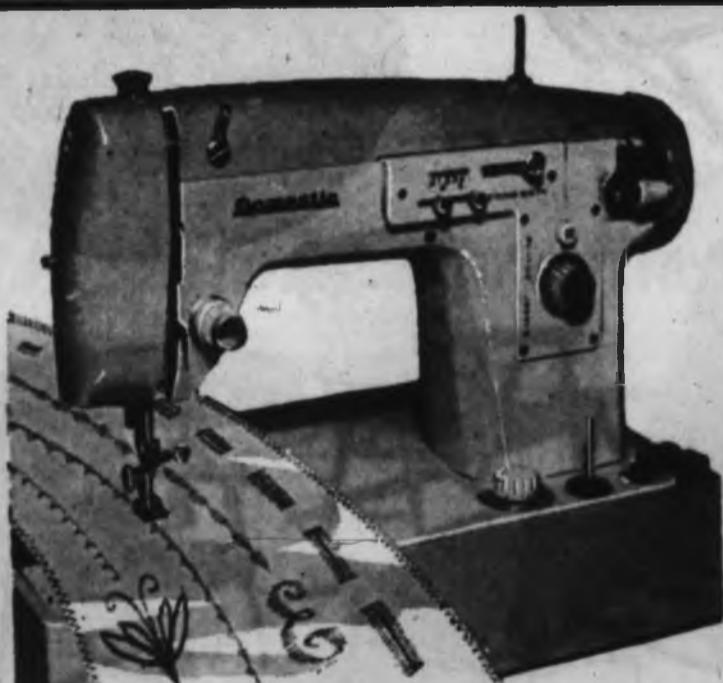

The statements were contained in a brief to the royal commission on biculturalism and bilingualism which met here this week. The brief said that all Indians are "shamefully" discriminated against.

The 8,000-member union said the Haida-Masset area on northern Graham Island "is depressed in the worst meaning of the word." The area had an Indian population of 12,000 to 13,000.

The fish cannery there provided an adequate income for only a handful of people and there was some employment in logging operations.

"There are simply not enough jobs, and for many the jobs which are available provide only poverty subsistence. The salmon fishery is near exhaustion."

Many Haidas "with desperate bravery" set out into deep waters in 10- to 20-foot boats with outboard engines to fish. But they could not compete with modern $10,000 to $20,000 seiners and long liners.

Order Honors
Eight Sisters

This Saturday in Victoria eight Sisters of St. Ann will be honored for 50 years' service with the order.

These eight are spiritual successors of four sisters who on June 5, 1858, arrived in Victoria via the Panama Canal to establish the order at the coast.

In 1876 the sisters established St. Joseph's Hospital and today 300 serve in educational and hospital work in the western provinces; under the jurisdiction of the Victoria headquarters.

One who will be returning for her golden jubilee celebration is Sister Mary Kathleen, now with St. Ann's Academy, New Westminster, but well known on Vancouver Island as hospital administrator.

OPEN HOUSE

Sister Mary Kathleen was the superior and administrator of St. Joseph's Hospital in the 40's and, prior to that, in charge of Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital at Campbell River — as well as Sacred Heart Hospital, Smithers.

Friends and associates of Sister Mary Kathleen, as of the other seven jubilarians, are invited to an open house at St. Ann's Academy, 435 Humboldt, from 3-5 p.m. Saturday.

VOWS RENEWED

At 10 a.m. Saturday the festive offering of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be celebrated in St. Ann's Academy by Bishop Remi J. De Roo. He will also preside at the formal renewal of religious vows which will be part of the ceremony.

One of the sisters to be honored has spent her whole 50 years of service at the same post — St. Joseph's Hospital.

DIRECTED NURSING

Sister Mary Gregory came to the Sisters of St. Ann from Prince Edward Island in 1913, completed novitiate studies in 1915 and entered the school of nursing that same year. She became director of the school of nursing in 1926 and served in this post until 1954.

At present she is medical librarian.

OLD MINORS

Caring for aging miners of the gold-rush days was the primary service of Sister Mary Epiphane when she served — for 25 years — at St. Mary's Hospital, Dawson, Yukon Territories.

After further years in Alaska, she came to Sacred Heart Hospital, Smithers, where she continues on active duty.

Sister Mary Jean is a veteran of the north, too, and is known locally for her work as superior and administrator for six years at St. Mary's Hospital.

LOVERS' GARDEN

In the Yukon she practically became a sourdough through her love of the North, she admits, but here in Victoria one of her joys in caring for the colorful gardens at Mount St. Angels, 223 Burdett Street.

Another jubilarian who will be honored Saturday is Sister Mary Thomasina, now serving at St. Ann's school residence, Duncan. Almost all of her religious life has been dedicated to the education and care of native children — in the Lower Yukon, Alaska and the Indian Residential Schools of Kamloops and Mission City.

TEACHING MUSIC

Sister Mary Lucy of Rome has spent her 50 years in teaching music — in Kamloops, Victoria, Nanaimo, New Westminster and Vancouver, where she now is in charge of the music department at Little Flower Academy.

Sister Mary Fernando came from Prince Edward Island in 1913 to serve with the sisters and since 1915 has worked in hospitals, schools and infirmaries on the Pacific Coast. At present she is portress and receptionist at St. Ann's Academy, Victoria.

SACRISTAN

In her 50th year with the order, Sister Mary Berthold is chapel sacristan of the Temple of the Lord at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Most of her years have been spent in the fields of medical technology and radiography, and she has set up departments for these services in several of the order's hospitals in the West.

The Sisters of St. Ann say "ad multos annos" to those who have reached their golden jubilee and, to the students, friends and associates of these sisters — "Viva our celebration Saturday."

Business Report Answers Critics

Enough for Cowichan Bay, Too

Lumber Docks Worth Millions to Victoria

Lumber loading at Ogden Point docks, currently under fire from city merchants, last year brought the city revenue of about $2,000,000, an official of the Victoria Downtown Business Association reported Thursday.

Archie Wills, association managing secretary, said in a report on Ogden Point that the operation of stacking lumber at the docks is in itself worth $400,000 a year to the city.

Shifting the business to Cowichan Bay as has been proposed, could create unemployment, the report said.

Mr. Wills' investigation was prompted by a suggestion from Mayor R. B. Wilson during a recent address to the association.

Mayor Wilson noted that merchants and property owners on Government Street have complained about the heavy lumber trucks and trailers using the street.

It has been suggested that this type of business could be diverted to Cowichan Bay.

Before any action is taken, Mayor Wilson said, it would be a good idea for someone to survey the Ogden Point lumber assembly to gauge its value to the city.

Some of Mr. Wills' findings:

• The lumber storage lease, held by Western Lumber Carriers, "is worth $400,000 a year to Victoria."

• B.C. Forest Products, one of the main suppliers of lumber to the docks, employs a minimum of 950 men whose ranks are swelled in the summer by about 200 students. Because of stiff competition in the industry, Mr. Wills was told, diverting the company's lumber to Cowichan Bay would create a serious problem and might be "the straw that broke the camel's back."

• One hundred and sixty longshoremen work at the Ogden Point lumber assembly, drawing an annual $1,200,000 in wages.

• Last year 273 ships called at Ogden Point for lumber, each paying an average of $1,000 in berthing charges.

• The ships' more than

8,000 personnel received pay advances, some of which they spent in town. Shipping company officials often came to Victoria to visit the ships, each spending perhaps $40 daily in the city.

• Three local trucking companies do considerable business with the Ogden Point lumber assembly—an estimated $60,000 annually.

• No one Mr. Wills spoke to opposed the development of the lumber assembly at Cowichan Bay. Consensus was that both assemblies soon will be hard-pressed to handle the lumber cargoes that are available.

Old Stone Unveiled

B.C. Health Minister Eric Martin Thursday unveiled the original cornerstone of Royal Jubilee Hospital in a three-part ceremony honoring National Hospital Week.

The ceremony was conducted at the hospital front entrance before an invited audience. Student nurses conducted a flag-lee Hospital Society.

In his speech of acceptance, Mr. Woodward described the award as the most wonderful thing that had ever happened to him.

Mr. Woodward, a noted Vancouver philanthropist, is a member of B.C.'s leading merchanting family.

The cornerstone unveiled by Mr. Martin, assisted by Mrs. Peakes, was that originally belonging to the old Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital.

The cornerstone was laid on April 22, 1887, to commemorate Queen Victoria's golden Jubilee.

Mrs. Hugh Nelson, wife of the then Lieutenant-governor, laid the cornerstone to which a new plaque has now been added bearing her name.

Enclosed in a capsule in the cornerstone are nine coins of the founding year, issues of Victoria newspapers, and a list naming all those who contributed financially to the hospital's foundation.

The hospital, Mr. Martin said, in a brief address, has played "a most significant role" in the province's history.

Imports
Pass
Victoria

Imported general cargo shipments to Victoria continued to fall during the month of April, while lumber export shipments were rising.

Don Jenkins, CNR dock agent at Ogden Point, said tonnage of imports there was practically nil.

"Ships are continuing to bypass Victoria for Vancouver, discharge there and have the goods shipped here by barge or truck," he said.

Lumber during April totalled 20,400,355 board feet—a slight drop from 22,385,847 during the same period in 1964.

Total so far this year is 2,600,000 board feet above last year's figures of 19,682,355.

Plywood shipments out of Ogden Point reached 1,577 tons during April and 203 tons of general cargo were exported.

Weeping Father Identifies His Son

A weeping father identified his seven-year-old son at a coroner's inquest Thursday night.

The inquest was told Michael Martin George, 1315 Craigflower Road, drowned, and his body was recovered on Mother's Day from a septic tank excavation on the Songhees Indian Reserve. He had been playing near his house in the evening.

He was identified by his father, P. A. George.

Royal Jubilee Hospital pathologist Dr. Ross McNeely said an autopsy indicated the boy had drowned.

The inquest was adjourned until Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the provincial law courts building.

It means that raw sewage and contamination pour into the lagoon, and this is dangerous for clam-diggers, crab-gatherers and kiddies wading and swimming. It's pretty obvious that this line should be replaced," the fisheries official said.

SEVERE BREAKS

There have been several such breaks over the years and the public has to be warned in each case, Mr. Gropp said.

It was particularly important that clam diggers be warned to keep away from the lagoon, an official of the federal fisheries department said.

IN POOR SHAPE

These sewer-line breaks are coming more and more often. That pipeline must be in poor shape. Apparently when anything touches it, it just disintegrates," he said.

It means that raw sewage and contamination pour into the lagoon, and this is dangerous for clam-diggers, crab-gatherers and kiddies wading and swimming. It's pretty obvious that this line should be replaced," the fisheries official said.

OUT TO SEA

The pipeline goes through the lagoon and out to sea. When tides are low it can be seen in several places.

Fisheries people say that commercial clam diggers are angry about the breaks.

CLAM POLLUTION

The clam-diggers say that this line breaks up anytime anything heavy, such as a log, comes up against it. We're concerned and so, naturally are they, about the pollution of the clam beds," officials said.

In the past when the line broke, signs have been posted warning people away from the beds. Authorities said Thursday people had been warned but did not say that signs had been posted.

Word that the line had been repaired was received from fisheries officials.

Prepare Brief
For Cheap Gas

A concentrated assault on B.C. Hydro will be made this month to provide lower gas rates for Victoria.

The Victoria-Vancouver Island branch of the Canadian Restaurant Association hopes to present a brief to Hydro's regional manager L. E. Wright Tuesday or Wednesday.

Local CRA president W. E. Webb said Thursday the brief will be supported by a petition from several coin-operated laundromats.

SEEMS EQUALIZATION

In addition, Victoria MLA J. Donald Smith intends to meet sometime this month to ask for equalization of gas rates.

Both Mr. Smith and the brief quote figures to show rate differences between Greater Victoria and the Lower Mainland.

In some cases, Mr. Smith explained, the rates are more than 100 per cent higher in Victoria, adding that it "seems most unfair."

LOSING OPERATION

The government backbencher notes Hydro's Victoria gas operation is a losing proposition, but he will ask the company to subsidize local rates out of profits from the Vancouver operation.

"If it can be done with electricity I see no reason why some equalization can't be realized with gas," he added.

VANCOUVER CHEAPER

Mr. Smith said a large Vancouver restaurant pays $107.62 a month for gas compared with $221.45 for a similar-sized Victoria restaurant.

Vancouver laundromats pay

$86.62 compared with $150.16 locally, while residential users here pay $38 as opposed to $17 in Vancouver.

Mr. Webb said local laundromats operate their dryers at a loss because they have a minimum gas bill of $150 a month regardless how much gas they consume.

Two films from mainland China will be shown at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Fox Theatre under sponsorship of a group wishing to organize a Victoria branch of the Canada-China Friendship Association.

The films are Swallows Spread their wings and China Today.

Tickets are being sold for $1 at Tommy's News Stand, 361 Fernwood, and by Dave Danielson, Organizer of the group is Miss Mavis Hall, a school teacher who lives at 30 Lewis Street. She said the purpose of the association would be an interchange of ideas and culture with China.

"We hope next year to sponsor exchange students, one brought here from China and one sent from here to China."

Couple Honeymoons At Niagara Falls

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Norman Blondin left for a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, New York and Florida, following their recent marriage in Metropolitan United Church.

Rev. A. E. King officiated at the double-ring ceremony for the former Susan Marie Stevenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rob Stevenson, 593 Victoria Avenue, and the son of Mrs. Audrey Blondin, 1083 Foul Bay Road.

Given in marriage by her father, the fair-haired bride was lovely in an exquisite gown of white organza fashioned with a bouffant, lace-trimmed skirt and wateau train. The gown's fitted lace bodice featured matching fly-point sleeves. Her four-tiered chapel veil fell from a hand-embroidered pill box headpiece of chantilly lace and for "something old" the bride wore a 100-year-old gold locket which belonged to her grandmother. Her only other jewelry was a pair of diamond earrings, gift of the groom. Sweetheart roses and stephanotis were in her cascade bouquet which was designed by the groom.

Pink peu de soie gowns and matching headpieces of tulle and roses were worn by the maid of honor, Miss Paddy Blondin, sister of the groom, and bridesmaids, the Misses Carol Saunders and Wendy Davis. They carried colonial bouquets of feathered carnations and stephanotis.

Inferiority Still Rules

REGINA (CP)—Women as individuals are entering business and public affairs in increasing numbers but women as a group still are timid, conservative and content with traditionally feminine and secondary jobs, Doris McCubbin Anderson of Toronto said.

Mr. Anderson, editor of Chatelaine Magazine, said women "hesitate to take the top jobs even when they are qualified. It's a pity because it's been scientifically proven that women can do the jobs just as well as men."

She said women have not been able to rid themselves of a generations-old sense of inferiority.

For Spring and Summer

Top Couturiers Create Smart Fashions to Sew

By MARGARET NEST

Planning to make some clothes for a spring trip? Some of the top couturiers are ready to give you a hand.

Oleg Cassini, Luis Estevez, Hannah Troy, Bud Kiplatrick of California and Edith Head of Hollywood are a few of the designers who have created spring - into - summer costumes available in patterns. These prominent designer fashions include everything from a chiffon dress to a jumpsuit.

Oleg Cassini, who always manages to combine femininity with a certain boyish charm, borrowed a busboy's jacket for a spring suit in pale biscuit beige jersey, bonded to a tricot backing. The bowed blouse is in textured white pique.

Singer sewing experts give this advice about bonded jersey. It's easy to sew if you use synthetic thread, a medium stitch (12 stitches to the inch) and balanced tension on both spool and bobbin threads. Seams need no special finish as fabric edges will not ravel.

For daytime Bud Kiplatrick designed a costume of yoke-style white linen coat over an easy-skirted black-and-white silk printed dress. For extra interest, add a head beret of the same print.

Here's Singer advice on fitting a lining in a loose coat. Turn the coat inside out and hang it on a dress form—or your best friend—and then fit the lining on the coat.

HOW TO HANDLE CHIFFON

Chiffon continues its popularity right into summer. Many home sewers avoid this, to them it is difficult fabric but you can handle chiffon or any sheer fabric with maximum result by cutting and sewing the lining and the chiffon as though they were a single fabric. Place the chiffon over the lining and baste darts down the centre and around the edges near the seam lines. Darts are stitched before the sections are seamed together. Then you sew the two as one.

In the pattern collection Hannah. Troy's split-level chiffon dress has a casual look with pink jacquard blend. The success in making this new curved side closing is to be sure that the grain of the facing pieces matches that of the section to be faced.

A two-piece dress by Mr. Mort provides pattern followers with the difficulty of the new side-swept closing. This dress is double-breasted over a panelled front skirt. The fabric is a shell-front with airy sleeves and a floating scarf-collar. She chose a broken plaid streaked with vivid pink and lime green across white.

If you like ruffles, Luis Estevez is the designer for you. His patterned black crepe dress has lace ruffles at the hemline, down back and around an apron-panel front. Ruffles again are a spring fashion that is carrying-over into summer.

ALLOW FOR STRETCH

Culottes are a popular at-home costume and Estevez is introducing them in the new back-dipping hemline. It gives a most interesting look to the culotte pants. He also loves vivid colors, probably due to his Spanish heritage. So he chose a blazing pink silk strewn with brilliant lime dots.

His dipped effect is tricky for the average sewer, Singer warns, because of the need for deep facing. Make certain that the facing pieces are cut on the same grain as the culotte leg.

And here's a last piece of advice for those who will be using the increasingly popular stretch fabrics. Remember that you may not need quite as much ease allowance as when making the same style in a firm fabric.

Use a size-14 sewing-machine needle and a 12-to-15 stitch length with tension regulated to produce an evenly-balanced stitch. Seams on stretch direction require special handling. As you stitch, stretch the fabric by holding it behind and in front of the presser foot.

Statistics from the United States—and these will hold to a great extent in Canada—prove that the home seamstress is more than holding her own. Sixty-six per cent of homes have sewing machines. More than 40,000,000 women and girls sew regularly. Forty-four per cent of them are under 30 years, 31 per cent are career women. Their income is above average.

Their reason for sewing? Surveys indicate it is because they actually like to sew.

TOP SOIL

By far the cheapest and best fertilizer for your lawn and shrubs. If applied as topdressing (one yard for every 600 sq. feet) it will after three yearly applications develop a thick and lasting turf that feels like a soft carpet. That is how good and lasting lawns used to be made. Top-dressed lawns moreover are far less vulnerable to weeds and most important of all require less watering. In comparison, one dollar of chemical fertilizer will buy only about 15 pounds of fertilizer which at best contains only 3 pounds of plant food. It will therefore only act as a shortlived stimulant without any lasting value.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I have an aunt who is very fat. She is also rich. Her husband owns half the lumber in North Carolina. This fat aunt came to visit us a few days ago. I know it was a dumb thing to do but I accidentally left my ukulele on a chair in the living room. Well, this fat aunt goes and sits right down on my ukulele and smashes it in a hundred pieces.

She didn't say one word about buying me a new ukulele. All she could talk about was how kids don't take care of their things and how the sound of that collapsing ukulele almost gave her heart failure.

I think it was mighty cheap of my aunt not to offer to buy me a new ukulele. She could buy me a whole store full of ukuleles and not miss the money.

Please tell me what you think about this, and if you would appreciate it a whole lot.—FORMER OWNER OF A UKULELE.

Dear Former Owner: I agree with your aunt that you should not have left the ukulele on the chair, but then people should pay some attention to where they sit.

There might have been a darling needle, scissors, or a small child on that chair.

Try's column appears in many cities in North Carolina. Let's hope Auntie sees your letter and comes through with a new ukulele.

Dear Ann Landers: Your advice to the three career girls who were planning a vacation together to "split up" and "avoid hunting in packs," was as dumb a piece of counsel as I have ever read.

I am a bachelor 50 years of age. The idea that any girl (alone or with friends) could snag a husband while on a vacation is insane. Any man who has the brains he was born with knows he can't tell anything about a woman unless he sees her in her home environment.

A man wants to know about a woman's cooking. He wants to see what her apartment or home looks like. He wants to know about her reputation. He is interested in the way she treats her mother and father. These things cannot be learned on a vacation.

Where did you get THAT piece of advice, Ann? Out of a travel brochure? You sound as dumb as the girls who wrote.

I call it the crippled leading the blind.—FREE AND HAPPY.

Dear Free: You sound like such a sweet, adorable guy I can't understand why YOU are still single. Maybe it's because the women in your home town all know you. Why don't YOU take a vacation, Bob?

False Alarms for Water Bombers

OTTAWA (UPI) — It has for many years been considered sport by some to push fire alarms to watch the bright red trucks come screaming to the scene on a wild goose chase.

But a new twist to the old game is creating problems for North American forest fire fighters.

It is setting brush and forest fires to see aerial "water bombers" in action.

Thirteen experts from Canada, the United States and Mexico have been meeting in one of the three countries at least once every two years.

Among the items they discussed was the use of aircraft of detecting, controlling and suppressing the woodland destruction that in Canada alone destroys nearly 3,000,000 acres at a loss of over $13,000,000 yearly.

The group Wednesday watched an Ontario lands and forests demonstration of water dropping while on a day-long inspection of provincial fire fighting equipment and techniques at Pembroke and federal forestry department research laboratories at Petawawa.

The two drops from tree-top level by veteran lands and forests pilot George Campbell indicated the advances that have been achieved in a difficult area of flying.

Campbell sprayed the two 200-gallon drops over identical 60 by 200 foot swaths in the space of six minutes.

Three Universities

Price-Fix Claim Held 'Asinine'

VANCOUVER (CP) — A University of B.C. student official Thursday termed as "asinine and irresponsible" charges of price-fixing between B.C. universities in the matter of student fees.

Peter Braund, second vice-president of UBC's Alma Mater Society, said in a statement that the charges made by University of Victoria Student Larry Devlin "show an amazing ignorance of the problems facing B.C. universities."

Said Mr. Braund: "Devlin has no foundation whatsoever for accusing the boards of governors of the universities of trying to deceive students or defraud the public."

"We are convinced that the three universities presidents and their boards of governors are doing their best to stave off another tuition fee increase."

The president of Simon Fraser University meanwhile said he will work for a decrease in fees once his university is operating.

Dr. P. D. McTaggart-Cowan said: "There is nothing I would like to see more than a drop in tuition fees and I'm sure the presidents of the other two public universities feel the same way."

He told a group of canvassers for the three universities capital fund drive that Simon Fraser, University of British Columbia and University of Victoria are studying the fee structure for next year.

Dr. McTaggart-Cowan denied any suggestion the universities are holding back on an announcement of a fee increase until the fund drive is completed.

Pope to Rule Soon On Use of the Pill

ROME (Reuters) — Pope Paul VI is expected to issue soon a preliminary ruling on the Roman Catholic attitude to contraceptive pills, usually well informed sources said Wednesday.

The pontiff, who has already stressed that he considers the question urgent because of "the anguish of many souls," is expected to make a public statement before his special commission on birth control holds its next plenary meeting here.

But the sources do not exclude the possibility that his preliminary ruling might be deferred privately to the commission.

The commission of more than 50 experts from all over the world—including priests, doctors and married couples—held a six-day meeting here in March.

A large part of the commission is believed to be in favor of allowing the birth control pill when use of the "safe period" system is not possible for certain reasons.

Prohibiting intercourse to the wife's sterile, or "safe" period, at present is the only method of birth regulation permitted for Roman Catholics.

Very few Canadians drive hundreds of miles each week at turnpike speeds. So very few Canadians need a high-powered, gas-guzzling, galloping monster.

What Canadians do need is a car for stop and go driving, for shopping, for economy highway driving and for a hundred other uses. That's the kind of driving the Toyota 700 takes to.

The Toyota 700 is easy to drive because it's fully automatic. It's also fully equipped with the niceties people need. The 700 has room for four, rich upholstery, reclining seats, deep-pile carpeting, electric wipers, windshield washer, whitewall tires, turn signals, back-up lights, child protected windows and a powerful heater.

With that kind of equipment the Toyota 700 should be expensive, it's not, it's the lowest priced automatic in Canada. The 700's operating costs won't even dent the housekeeping money. Come see your CMI dealer today. He'll take you for a trial spin in the silky smooth Toyota 700. It'll steal your heart away. With 24-hour service protection.

Estranged Wife, Daughter Charged in $550,000 Theft

GREENVILLE, S.C. (UPI) — The estranged wife and daughter of a textile machinery tycoon face criminal charges in the alleged theft of $550,000 from the industrialist's office bathroom.

The state charges that the alleged burglary, the largest in the state's history, was master-minded by the wife. An attorney contended, however, the money actually belonged to her.

The wife, the couple's beautiful blonde daughter and a hairdresser turned missionary all were implicated in the case this week by the testimony of a young New York department store clerk who pleaded guilty to lifting the cash from the executive lavatory.

The cash, stuffed in leopard skin and leather bags, was taken Easter night, 1964, from the bathroom adjoining the office of industrialist John Hollingsworth. The theft was not reported until January of this year, apparently because the textile machinery tycoon wanted to avoid publicity, police said.

SEPARATED YEAR

Mrs. Hollingsworth, who has been estranged from her husband for more than a year, and the daughter, Mrs. Mary Jane Farrell, 19, of Miami, are charged with housebreaking, grand larceny. Mrs. Hollingsworth, also charged with conspiracy, is free on $25,000 bond.

Mrs. Farrell, the wife of a University of Miami graduate student, said she would fight extradition to South Carolina to face trial.

Witness Saw Man Far from Shooting

EDMONTON (CP) — A surprise witness was introduced Thursday as the defense concluded its case in the capital murder trial of Lloyd Dennis Lyding, 25, of Edmonton.

John Pishonak, a neighbor of the accused's father Sam Lyding, told of seeing Lyding in his parents' home at the time of the murder. Lyding, a salesman, is charged in the shooting of his estranged wife Margaret. She was believed killed near her apartment about 7:30 p.m. Oct. 22.

SEVERAL MILES

Mr. Pishonak, who did not testify at Lyding's first trial, said he went to his backyard several miles distant from the murder scene at about 7:15 p.m. and saw Lyding with his parents in their kitchen. Under cross examination he admitted he could not be sure of his watch.

Defence counsel Giffard Main introduced several other witnesses who did not testify at Lyding's first trial. He was convicted by an Alberta supreme court jury in January and sentenced to be hanged, but a new trial later was ordered.

JUDGE ALONE

In what was believed a Canadian legal precedent, Lyding Monday was granted the right to be tried by judge alone. Normally capital murder charges are heard by judge and jury.

Mr. Hollingsworth, the wife of a University of Miami graduate student, said she would fight extradition to South Carolina to face trial.

Hydrofoil To Speed Seattle Run

SEATTLE (CP) — A 75-passenger hydrofoil boat being constructed in Baltimore for use on the Seattle-Victoria run is to be launched shortly.

John D. Frank, vice-president of the Maryland Shipbuilding and Drydock Company which is building the craft, said it should be in service by September.

Mr. Frank said the $1,500,000 hydrofoil will be built for Northwest Hydrofoil Lines is expected to make the Seattle-Victoria trip in about 90 minutes—less than half the time now required by standard vessels.

The boat will be tested in the Baltimore area, then brought to the northwest by ship, Mr. Frank said.

B.C. Secede? That's Ridiculous!

Can B.C. exist apart from Canada? "Ridiculous," said two Victoria businessmen Thursday.

"I think the question of British Columbia seceding from Canada is ridiculous," said David H. Lawson, president of Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

"Anyone who makes such statements is taking a ridiculous position," said Hugh R. Stephen, past president of the chamber and head of Oak Bay's new citizen's planning committee.

"Problems between B.C. and Ottawa must be solved, but secession is no way to solve them," he said.

Premier Bennett earlier blamed the federal government for widening the gulf between this province and Ottawa.

He said the division is serious, and a solution will require a complete about-face by the federal government in its treatment of B.C.

Trade Minister Ralph Lofmark sparked the controversy in a Vancouver interview. Later he insisted that his remarks had been misinterpreted.

"No man in his senses would suggest secession. I think most people are Canadians first and British Columbians second," Mr. Stephen said.

"With a minority government in Ottawa and strong governments in the provinces, this is hardly the time to discuss things which separate us."

He said the minority situation on Parliament Hill requires discussion of things which unite Canada, not divide it.

"When the federal government was strong, as the Liberal government was in the early 1950s, and the provincial governments were weaker, then we could afford the luxury of raising contentious issues," said Mr. Stephen.

Mr. Lawson agreed. "I don't think there's enough reason to secede, not by a long shot," he said.

Good news for the man who's over 40 and concerned about his health

When you're over 40 you begin to realize that good health may not always be yours. If you're wise you make the necessary adjustments—you enjoy life, but you don't overtax yourself.

Life insurance suddenly becomes more important, too. You want to make sure that all the gaps are plugged, now.

But uncertain health could make life insurance difficult to buy—more costly. Who can help you?

I think Manufacturers Life probably can. We believe life insurance should be available to as wide a group of people as possible—including people with coronary, high blood pressure, or ulcers, for example—at lowest possible cost. In fact, our company was the first to offer life insurance to men and women with diabetes.

If you are under 50 and worried about your life insurance because you are worried about your health, give me a call. I'll review your present insurance and show you how Manufacturers Life may be able to plug any gaps there are in it—without placing you under any obligation.

Zinnias Like It Hot

By M. V. CHESTNUT

There was a time in my gardening career when I didn't think much of the zinnia as a garden flower. I remember making quite a big sowing of them around 25 years ago, and I was bitterly disappointed when the plants came into bloom.

True, they sprang up like weeds and grew with all the enthusiasm of a Russian thistle, but the flowers were flattish, artificial-looking things and the colors were harsh, with a particularly horrid magenta shade predominating.

Things have changed since those days. The plant breeders have been busily engaged in changing the whole personality and appearance of the zinnia, and nowadays we have zinnias that look like dahlias, zinnias that look like scabious, others resembling marigolds, and a whole new race with big, shaggy flowers for all the world like hothouse chrysanthemums. There are even some creeping kinds, good for trailing out of hanging baskets and window boxes.

The zinnia is a real heat-lover and it is certainly no kindest to sow the seeds too early — the iliacs should be blooming before the seeds go in the ground. Another thing to remember is that they don't care much for transplanting, and your plants will always do better when the seeds are sown in the spot where they are to bloom.

As the zinnia comes originally from southern California and Mexico, this gives us a clue to their culture. They must have a warm, sunny, well-drained site, and while they will tolerate most types of soil, they have a decided preference for sandy loam.

But while the zinnia likes a hot and dryish site, and detests having its leaves splashed with cold water, it is not immune to drought. In fact, dryness at the root level is often a contributing factor leading to a bad attack of mildew on the leaves.

For this reason, when I am planting zinnia seeds, I like to make a special planting station for each seed, taking out a hole with the hand trowel about six inches deep. A handful of soggy wet peat moss is placed in the bottom of the hole, the soil filled in, and a single seed sown half an inch deep. The reserve of moisture contained in the sponge-like peat should keep the deep roots happy throughout the summer.

Another useful trick in starting zinnias is to cover each sown seed with a jam jar. This is not so much for protection, but to conserve moisture around the seed in the soil, for the surface soil in such a sun-baked site tends to dry out very rapidly. The jam jars should come off as soon as the seedlings emerge.

Regarding varieties, I think State Fair is one of the best of the dahila-flowered kinds, making a plant 2½ feet tall and bearing blooms as much as the perky, sparkling blooms.

Treasure Island is a good cactus-flowered kind, with shaggy blooms six inches across in gold, scarlet, crimson and orange. Miss Universe is a cross between the dahlia-flowered kinds, dwarfer and more branching than the parents and with attractive blooms mostly in clear pastel shades.

Orlo Folk is a peppermint-stick zinnia with striped and flecked flowers, while Merry-Go-Round is a race of bicolors in which the petal tips are of a sharply contrasting color — purple with white tips, red with gold tips, and so on. Tumbelinas, Red Buttons and Pink Buttons are excellent compact dwarf plants only six inches in height, very good for edging.

The modern zinnia makes a very good cut flower, especially the shaggy kinds, although there is some tendency for the water to become smelly unless it is changed daily. Cut the flowers in the heat of the afternoon when the plants are in a slightly wilted condition and plunge them up to their necks in cool water overnight. They'll be limp but thirsty when you put them in, but they'll drink their fill and come out next morning with stiff, turgid stems and perky, sparkling blooms.

For this reason, I like to make a special planting station for each seed, taking out a hole with the hand trowel about six inches deep. A handful of soggy wet peat moss is placed in the bottom of the hole, the soil filled in, and a single seed sown half an inch deep. JACK SMITH-Happy Bachelor, Then-

Gribble Spoils Everything

Except for not feeding the cats for two days and not watering the azaleas I managed quite well this year while my wife was out of town at the PTA convention.

I'm more experienced now, and of course I've matured since her first convention.

The boys were away this time, too, so I did it all by myself. Meals were no trouble. I bought four filet mignon, a package of mushroom gravy mix, five small cans of mushrooms, two heads of lettuce, a package of bleu cheese mix and a half-case of Pinot Noir.

Every night I made a salad with bleu cheese dressing, broiled a filet mignon and mushroom gravy, toasted a slice of garlic bread and dined in princely solitude, with half a bottle of the Pinot Noir.

It was during a period of euphoria brought on by one of these gratifying repasts and a late movie that I got my first checkup phone call.

"Did you feed Gus and Gato?" she asked.

"I didn't know I was supposed to," I said. "I thought cats foraged for themselves. They're beasts of prey, aren't they?"

"You better feed them," she advised, "or they might run away."

What a happy development that would be, I thought, but held my tongue.

"The cat food," she said, "is in the cupboard on the back porch. Has anybody watered the azaleas?"

"They're flowers. Something like a rhododendron. They're in pots on the front porch. The water sprinkler is on the back steps. Are you all right?"

"I'm fine," I said. "Don't worry. I'll fix the cats and wash over me. It turned into the driveway across the street. It was Gribble."

"Watering the flowers, hey Jack?"

"The azaleas were dying," I explained dryly.

He chuckled repulsively. "Mistress Mary, quite contrary," he sang in his hideous baritone.

"How does your garden grow?"

That was the night I opened the scotch.

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Kim Novak called me from New York before flying to Chicago with husband Richard Johnson to spend the weekend, thus enabling me to ask the question I have asked myself ever since her marriage to Johnson eight weeks ago: "Why Richard?"

Kim had been on the verge of marriage so many times before with so many attractive men that I was really anxious to learn from her why she finally tripped to the altar with her English co-star in The Amorous Adventures of Moll Flanders.

Of course, proximity had something to do with it, but Kim had been even closer with former flame Richard Quine, who directed her in several pictures, and when she was engaged to English newspaperman Roderick Mass, he spent every moment on the set with her in Dublin during her Human Bondage film, and they were together every single second after that in London. So, "Why Richard?" I asked Kim.

"As you well know, Sheilah, I had been in love before," she replied, "but it somehow wasn't right when it came to the final step. The men were simply not right for me and I would realize this and run away from the situation. I have to have so much understanding, and it takes a very mature person to handle this. I'm not the easiest person to live with."

"If you marry when you're 17, you're more flexible and you can change your ways more easily to blend with those of the man you marry. Richard is a more mature person than I am. He is a man I can look up to. We have much the same interests. He enjoys wood carving and I enjoy painting."

"To go back to your first question of 'Why Richard?' and why I took so long to decide about getting married . . . everyone should do this. When people buy a car, they don't rush in and take the first one that catches their fancy. They shop around. They lift the hood, they check the engine. And it is certainly much more important to check the different aspects of the man you want to marry. It isn't enough only to be in love . . ."

In London, Kim will live with Richard in his fairly small home in Belgravia. "We'll get there in mid-June and we'll start looking for something bigger because we hope to have children."

"How do you feel about The Amorous Adventures of Moll Flanders?" I asked. "Did it come out the way you hoped it would?"

"I think it will do very well," said Kim. "They had to cut some bawdy scenes and I hope this won't spoil the picture. That was a very bawdy period and if you attempt to be accurate, you can't wear high-necked gowns, for instance."

We talked of her Kiss Me, Stupid picture which Billy Wilder directed and which was lambasted on the ground of bad taste by most of the critics. We both agreed it would have had a better chance if Peter Sellers had not been forced by illness to withdraw.

See Changing of Guard

Kennedy Tourists

LONDON (UPI) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy took her two children to Buckingham Palace Thursday to watch the colorful changing of the guard. Four-year-old "John-John" put on a show of his own by balancing a loaf of bread on his head as the family walked through St. James's Park.

On the way to the palace, seven-year-old Caroline got stepped on by a husky U.S. Secret Service man and her little brother laughed.

Caroline was not amused, but held back the tears while she hopped painfully about for a few moments under the concerned eyes of her mother and the apologetic guard.

Mrs. Kennedy, the children, and members of the family of the late president as well as close friends, are here for the unveiling of a monument in his memory by Queen Elizabeth at historic Runnymede today.

"John-John" was clutching a loaf of bread to feed the ducks in St. James' Park when the family set out, accompanied by nine American and British plainclothesmen, about 60 newsmen and photographers and a crowd of sightseers.

When told they might miss the guard-changing ceremony, the party left the park without feeding the ducks.

A palace gate was opened and the entire Kennedy party trooped across the yard to watch the ceremony from the steps of the Privy Purse door.

History Traced In Film

A film, There'll Always Be An England, will be shown at Oak Bay Junior High School on Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m.

Dr. Charles Forbes Taylor, lecturer, humorist, author and photographer, will narrate the film on the period of English history from Elizabeth I to the present day.

Dr. Taylor of Pasadena, Calif., originally from Britain, now is an American citizen.

Car Hits Clown In Thrill Show

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 32-year-old clown was injured Thursday when struck by an automobile at the auto thrill show at the World's Fair.

William Williams, of London, Ont., also known as Happy the Clown, was struck by one of two automobiles as he stood between two ramps on which they were travelling as part of the act. He was taken first to the hospital on the fairgrounds and then to Flushing Hospital where he was placed under observation.

The driver of the car which struck him, Jack Blumstead, of Paterson, N.J., in the auto thrill show for 11 years, was shaken by the incident. He said he saw the clown move but could not stop.

"I wouldn't have hit him if he had stood still," Blumstead said.

The driver said he and Williams had performed the same stunt more than 1,000 times and had never had an accident.

Retardation Battle Out in Open

Three per cent of Canada's population is affected by mental retardation, according to officials of retarded children's associations across Canada.

The forms and guises of this retardation can be obvious, or they can go unnoticed; they can completely affect the life of the individual and family, or they can be slight.

WEIL DAY BY DAY

But the effect is felt day by day in the families of almost 1,000,000 retardates.

Recognition of the problem by the public has led to a major advance in recent years: families are bringing their troubles out into the light of day.

ERA ENDING

The age of the family secret, the closed room, are drawing to a close.

Now tests are made on children, medical science is getting a chance to deal with the problem, families are turning to trained workers for help.

BEING HELPED

In schools and sheltered workshops across the country, retardates are being helped to work toward their maximum potential.

The wastage of nature is being transformed into the fabric for the fullest possible human life.

SOME IMPAIRED

Dr. William Gaddes, in charge of University of Victoria's unique research program into brain damage, estimates 10 to 15 per cent of children in any classroom suffer from some sort of learning, perceptual or neurological impairment.

Private citizens, banding together to aid the retarded, have been ahead of governments in dealing with the problem.

EXCELLENT RECORD

Victoria's Association for the Retarded has an excellent record in dealing with the problem in its community.

One great challenge to those who would help is the problem of discovering those who are retarded.

This is Retarded Children's Week, a time when those who work and live daily with the problem of retardation look at the trials of the past and the hope of the future.

They are confident the retarded can be discovered, taught and helped.

Cuban Ship Sunk Three Men Killed

MIAMI (UPI) — A radio distress call picked up here Thursday night reported three men killed in an air-sea attack on a Cuban coastal freighter, but the incident could not be confirmed.

The coast guard said it was sending a plane to the area.

In the distress call a frantic voice reported the well known coastal freighter "26 De Julio"—20th of July, for the name of Fidel Castro's revolutionary group—was sinking 35 miles off the north coast of Cuba.

Rebels Hit By Rockets

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Five Dominican junta P-51 fighter planes twice strafed rebel targets with rocket fire in downtown Santo Domingo Thursday. U.S. anti-aircraft batteries opened fire when the attackers flew low over their positions.

State department spokesman Richard Phillips said the U.S. considered the air attacks a violation of the formal cease-fire signed by rival Dominican military factions May 5. He said the attacks also violated U.S. efforts to establish a stable government here.

Phillips disclosed that both he and U.S. Ambassador W. Tapley Bennett, Jr., crawled under their desks in the American embassy when it appeared the attacking planes were coming in a strafing run.

HTT REBEL RADIO

Rebel headquarters said four to five fighters were involved in the attacks which they admitted knocked out their radio Santo Domingo transmitters. They claimed one child was killed and a second child wounded in the attacks.

Factory Raid

Uniforms Disguise Viet Cong

SAIGON (AP) — A Viet Cong raid involving the use of Vietnamese marines uniforms brought the war back to Saigon's doorstep Thursday. A platoon of about 30 guerrillas, garbed as marines, got past the guard at a suburban textile plant without challenge and then opened fire.

SEX KILLED

A U.S. spokesman said the guerrillas killed six militiamen and wounded three employees.

In the rice lands 120 miles southwest of Saigon, government forces skirmished with a rebel battalion near Ben Lieu, a commercial centre of 14,000. One U.S. adviser and 10 Vietnamese soldiers were reported wounded and 16 Viet Cong killed.

AIR HELP

A U.S. spokesman said the troops were pinned down for an hour by heavy fire, but air strikes neutralized the Viet Cong positions.

ARROW WOUNDED

In an apparently unrelated incident, a Marine guard was wounded in the thigh by a 13-inch-long arrow of a type fired by hill tribesmen.

Separate action persisted in the region of Song Be, a provincial capital 74 miles north of Saigon. Snipers shot at government positions in the town early in the day and others shot at planes from the jungles south of Song Be.

Rewards Total Thousands For Spotting Lemay

OTTAWA (UPI) — Rewards of at least $2,000 and probably "quite a bit more" are available in Canada for the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., boat repairman who helped police in the arrest of accused Canadian bank robber Georges Lemay.

The bank posted the reward for information leading to the arrest of Lemay in 1951, when he was first sought by police for the robbery of safety deposit boxes of a Montreal Scotia branch.

The lost was set in court at $500,000.

In Toronto the Canadian Bankers' Association has another "open" award, the amount of which is determined after the suspect has been tried and convicted. This could go into the thousands of dollars.

Its aim will be "appropriate," said a banker here. It is set according to the help given police by the repairman and the risks involved.

The boat repairman will have to write the association claiming the reward, and this must be done within 30 days after Lemay has been convicted. This could be a long time coming.

However, he can apply immediately for the $2,000 Scotia reward.

Lemay, 38, one of the most wanted men on the continent, was captured in Fort Lauderdale last Thursday.

View Royal Murder

Hundreds of Leads Round-Clock Hunt

Police have "hundreds" of leads to check out as the round-the-clock search for the killer of 14-year-old Susan Freschi moves into its third day.

"One lead means as much as another," said an RCMP official, as 10 officers, both uniformed men and Criminal Investigation Branch investigators, spent every waking hour on the case.

An inquest into the beating death of the View Royal girl was held last night.

MURKIN TIED

The girl was found with her skull bludgeoned, naked, a rope tying her hands behind her back in thick brush several hundred yards from Hillside house on the old Island Highway.

A six-man inquest jury and coroner Edmund Jerra de St. Jerome heard from Royal Jubilee pathologist Dr. Ross McNeely in a 30-minute session at Sand's Mortuary:

• There was no evidence of sexual assault.

• Susie was struck four blows to the head, one to the chest and possibly one blow to the shoulder with something pointed.

(Police found a pointed, blood-stained rock near the body.)

• The base of the skull was fractured from ear to ear by the force of a blow to the top of the skull.

• Earth, twigs and debris were found in the girl's mouth; these were also found in the lungs, indicating the girl's face had been pushed into the earth while she was still breathing.

• There was some degree of asphyxiation; brain damage occurred. There was no evidence of strangulation.

Municipal Vote Tory Landslide

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's Conservative opposition made sweeping gains in nationwide municipal election results announced Thursday.

With nearly all the results in from 365 town councils in England and Wales, Conservatives showed a massive net gain of 518 seats.

Labour had a net loss of 251 seats and the minority Liberal party a net loss of 108 seats.

Conservative Plank:

Make School Tax Tax-Deductible

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — With an eye on the next election campaign, the Progressive Conservatives have drafted an aid-to-education platform plank which includes making school taxes paid by home owners a deductible expense for federal income tax.

The tax deduction proposal is part of a double-barreled program to assist in the burden of paying for secondary education.

The second feature of it involves an extension of the capital-cost grants for school construction.

This is an outgrowth of the program put into effect by the former Conservative government contributed up to 75 per cent of the construction costs of technical schools.

Information say the plan is to extend this contributory system to other secondary schools.

HELP UNIVERSITIES

A third aspect of the Conservative election platform on education calls for increasing the per capita grants to universities to $3 from the present $2.

The Conservative platform will call for a national constitutional conference at which special agreements would be made with provincial governments for assistance to ensure that every Canadian capable of attending university has the opportunity to do so.

MORE MIGHT GO

The aid-to-education plan is based on an estimate that only seven per cent of Canadians of university age actually go to university. An estimated 20 per cent of this age group is qualified and considered to have the ability to graduate from university.

Offensive to Queen 'Mind Business' Earns Reprimand

QUEBEC (CP) — Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson said Thursday that if he went to London it would be to tell the Queen and British government to "mind their own business."

The remark had Premier Léage said before his return to Canada Thursday he was more optimistic than ever that negotiations might get started.

"I hope very much the talks will be followed by others and there will be a positive outcome to these meetings," said Manlio Brosio, NATO secretary-general.

Canada has more than 1,100 troops in the UN peace force in Cyprus and the job of peace-making is regarded as a UN affair. But NATO is involved, since Turkey and Greece are both members.

"The premier is certainly suffering from a sharp attack of royalty," Mr. Johnson replied.

Speaker Hyde asked Mr. Johnson if he had wished to speak about the Queen in disrespectful terms. When Mr. Johnson replied "No," the Speaker said the incident was closed.

The reference to the Queen was made after Premier Léage announced that Municipal Affairs Minister Pierre Laporte was making a trip to Europe.

Quebec Goes Ahead With French Dealings

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec government has scheduled new direct negotiations with a foreign government without advising the federal government of its intentions.

Pierre Laporte, Quebec cultural affairs minister, announced Thursday he is leaving today for Paris to open negotiations with Andre Malraux, French cultural affairs minister, on new cultural agreements.

Mr. Laporte told a press conference the federal government had not been told this was one of the aims of his week-long trip.

FIRST WARPLANE

It was the first use of warplanes in the Dominican civil war since controversial loyalist Gen. Elias Wessin Y Wessin apparently stepped out of the military picture May 7 to make way for a five-man military-civil Junta.

Renewed fighting between the rival Dominican military factions jeopardized efforts of Organization of American States negotiators to end the civil war. U.S. military authorities reported the death of another Marine sentry from sniper fire bringing to 18 the number of American servicemen killed here in two weeks.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler said Thursday the U.S. balance of payments deficit was $750,000,000 in the first three months of the year compared with $1,500,000,000 in the fourth quarter of 1964.

Don't Wonder If It's Cancer Take Tests, Find Out Truth

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

It seems as though several times a day, I read another letter from someone who recites a combination of symptoms and then asks, "Could it be cancer?"

Often the condition is such that I can surmise that it most certainly is not cancer. Again, the only possible conclusion is that it most likely is cancer.

In still others, perhaps the majority of cases, all I can say is that it might or might not be, but some further facts and tests will give the answer.

The big mystery is this: Why, when people have uncomfortable or suspicious symptoms, do they waste time asking, "Could it be cancer?"

If it really is cancer, every day of delay makes things worse, and in time the day will come which marks the dividing line between being able to cure that cancer, and not being able to.

Some of my fellow doctors engaged in battling cancer estimate that 20,000 more lives could be saved this year if everybody observed the simple and defence perimeter and rebel positions in the city. There was also sporadic heavy machinegun fire but no immediate explanation of its cause. Rebel sniping was reported in the daylight hours.

Paratroopers reported eight instances of sniper firing at their positions along the Ozama River in downtown Santo Domingo in the past 24 hours but said they suffered no casualties. Political manoeuvring continued behind the scenes in an effort to find a peaceful solution to the prolonged stalemate.

PEACE FORCE

First contingents of an International peace force will arrive in the troubled Dominican Republic today. The Organization of American States announced yesterday in Washington that the American Costa Rican Ambassador Gonzalo J. Facio said he had been told that U.S. transport planes would fly in 250 soldiers from Honduras and 30 policemen from Costa Rica.

At the United Nations, a Soviet attempt to force recognition of a representative of Col. Francisco Caamaño Deno's rebel regime as an official Dominican emissary failed in the security council in a sharp-edged exchange involving several delegations.

Council president Radhakrishnan Ramani, of Malaysia, held that an application of Ruben Brache, appointed permanent U.N. representative by Caamaño's "foreign minister" Joaquin Cury, to speak to the council was not acceptable under the rules.

A brief ceremony will be held at the cemetery in honor of Cpl. Thomas Johnson and Const. John O'Brien, who died while on duty at the post.

NOT INVOLVED

This has produced no results. A tracking dog from Nanaimo failed to throw light on which route was taken by the girl and the killer to the scene of the crime.

ROUTE UNKNOWN

A path from behind Six-Mile House to Chilco Road, running within 150 yards of the scene of the killing, may have been the route taken by the girl.

The body was found by a volunteer searcher about 2 p.m. Wednesday afternoon.

Clothes, purse and school books were found near the body. Susan had been returning to

FROM BUS STOP

The girl is believed to have died between 8 p.m. and midnight Tuesday, as she walked from a bus stop at Helmcken Road and old Island Highway.

The stop is two miles from the girl's home on Chilco Road.

NO RESULTS

The hunt ended when known sex offender Russell Spears shot and killed himself near Kelowna.

Dr. R. E. Earnshaw of Vancouver, who knew Spears, wrote to the attorney-general protesting the fact that known sex deviates like Spears are allowed to remain free and unchecked.

Susan's body was identified by her uncle, G. R. McLean, a chemical engineer in Edmonton.

INQUEST ADJOURNED

The inquest was adjourned to Wednesday, June 19, after the medical evidence was completed.

A LIST

A list of all known sex deviates in Greater Victoria is being checked; these men are being asked their whereabouts at the time of the slaying.

NOT INVOLVED

A 45-year-old man picked up Wednesday on another matter involving indecent assault, was found to have "no connection" with the View Royal killing, police said.

MANHUNT

The manhunt is now province-wide, with information coming in from all parts of British Columbia.

ASSISTANCE OFFERED

All police departments in Greater Victoria have offered assistance to Cobwood RCMP in searching for the killer.

RESIDENTS

Residents living along the route taken by the slain girl on her way home have been questioned, in an attempt to find someone who might have seen the killer with or near the girl.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

AL MILLAR could be among the missing when Victoria Maple Leafs line up to be introduced for their first Western Hockey League home game next season. A trade or an intra-organization shift is quite possible . . . Al Laycos scoffs at reports that Boston Bruins may shift Andy Hebertson from Portland Buckaroos to San Francisco Seals next season but he is worried about the possibility the popular, and still very good, veteran is serious about retirement. If he decides to carry on Hebertson could extend his consecutive streak to an almost unbelievable 1,000 by approximately mid-season . . . Howie Young must be running out of chance-takers but reports have it that Bud Poole of the Seals is willing to gamble that he could get enough ice time out of Young to make the effort worth while . . . Don't be surprised if Ted Lindsay can be persuaded to extend his comeback through a second season . . . Incidentally, Detroit Red Wings didn't win an NHL championship between 1957, Lindsay's last previous season with the club, and 1965, when the fiery winger came back to rejoin his former teammates. It may have been no coincidence . . . with John Cheevers, who played with Rochester this past season, scheduled to join Johnny Bower to make up the two-man goalkeeping combination for Toronto Maple Leafs next season it wouldn't be any surprise if Detroit reclaimed Terry Sawchuk . . . a tongue-in-cheek prediction by Jim Colman that Andy Boughan was to be the next captain of the Maple Leafs seemed to afford Toronto officials some amusement when it was reported to them during the WHL meeting in Seattle this week . . . perhaps yielding to his players, coach Punch Imlach has drastically sliced the Toronto pre-season schedule to less than a dozen games and the Maple Leafs won't be seen on the west coast this fall . . . Claude Labrasse, the pleasant French-Canadian who came out of a year's retirement to give Victoria's Maple Leafs a big lift on defence, liked it while here and wants to return.

JAKE LAMOTTA, the uninhibited former world middle-weight boxing champion who played Big Julie in a New York production of "Guys and Dolls," feels that boxers are a natural for the performing arts.

"Us prize-fighters," LaMotta is quoted by Dink Carroll, "appear in front of thousands of people with hardly no clothes on. We're proud, we're not ashamed of our butts. We know we got the stuff. We're all exhibitionists."

Sophie Loren couldn't have explained it better.

JOE LOUIS was the kind of guy golf's Harvey Hustle's liked to know, reportedly losing more than a small fortune on his faith in his golfing ability. But he did win on occasion, and one of his victims was none other than Sam Snead, who is unhappy indeed at times like that.

"I never heard of you giving anyone a handicap when you were in the ring," Snead remarked sourly in reference to the strokes he had given Louis.

"Tell you what," Louis replied, "the two of us is going to have a five-round bout and I'm going to concede you the first four."

MARCEL PELLETIER caught the eye of King Clancy during the Central league playdowns with three games that Clancy claimed was the best goalkeeping he had seen all season. The ex-Victoria Cougar is likely to be back in the WHL next season with Los Angeles but having caught Clancy's notice and with his 35th birthday due in December he seems about ready for Toronto Maple Leafs . . . Trophy-maker Gar Taylor paid blood as well as sweat into his creations and is recovering from his second long bout with his equipment . . . Keith MacKenzie, who had never been in a like predicament before, is also recovering—from the shock of being left afoot by Don Auld, a forgeful type about such items as car keys . . . Belated congratulations to Jim and Tom MacLean, George Becker and Bill Heath for ending it there after losing their first game in the North Shore hospital and going on to win the second event . . . Jackie Gleason, and one can surmise this, likes to golf in comfort. His cart has a TV set, a portable bar and a walkie-talkie. And he owns seven complete sets of clubs, including a gold-plated outfit, in addition to 156 putters . . . Keith Smelling and Derek Leonard have issued a challenge—$25 per man—to any tenpin combination in the city . . . Bill and Ade Fidler are reported to be returning Victoria citizenship again, and that means much of their time next season will be spent at the Victoria Curling Club . . . Victoria Shamrocks have been a little more than disappointing so far this season, a situation which could change when team-leader Harry Ashby finally gets into stride . . . "What I like about Victoria," Toronto-president Stanfor Maynor said at the WHL meeting, "was the hard core of hockey fans. They were always there even when things were going bad. It shows that if we can give Victoria a better club we can expect better support."

Evening Optimists handed Bernies their first loss of the season, tripling them, 3-2, to move into a first place tie with Bernies in Connie Mack League baseball action Thursday night at Marigold Park.

At Windsor Park, War Amps scored their first win of the season, defeating Al's Esso, 3-2, behind pitching of Rick Foster.

Scots Fans Thunderous

Nothing Like That Roar

Premier contributor to the Daily Colonist sports page, Robert Jeffries is back to Europe this summer. Here's what he tells of The Hampden Roar:

By ROBIN JEFFRIES

GLASGOW — Love, the poets say, is the greatest experience—but the poets never saw Scotland play soccer at Hampden Park.

Since it was opened about 50 years ago, Hampden Park has been the site of Scotland's international soccer matches, and as such has provided a kind of perpetual battleground for the venting of the warlike spirit of the Scots. Scotland is noted for — among other things — its good whisky, good soldiers and good soccer players—and the three are always in evidence at Hampden.

But I was surprised later to find that there were only 60,000—"Hampden," my neighbor said, "is verrr deceptive."

So what I saw was a below-half-strength Hampden—but that was enough.

The Hampden Roar is sort of dull rumbling like a major earthquake or a dozen squadrons of jet planes breaking the sound barrier) is more potent than any Bronx cheer and louder than the Mersey Sound. The Hampden Roar has reportedly struck terror in the hearts of some of the world's greatest soccer players.

I can believe it.

After listening for years to stories of Hampden, I got my first taste of it on a Saturday night (May 8) when Scotland's finest played Spain. To my untrained eye there appeared to be a capacity crowd of 150,000 — Hampden is the biggest stadium in Britain.

But I was surprised later to find that there were only 60,000—"Hampden," my neighbor said, "is verrr deceptive."

So what I saw was a below-half-strength Hampden—but that was enough.

The Hampden Roar is sort of dull rumbling like a major

The wind swept in from the west and the rain continued to fall as it had done all day. But that didn't seem to matter to the 50,000-plus who were standing on the uncovered terraces.

The match itself was a flop and ended in a 0-0 draw, but it was the extra-curricular stuff that brought the Hampden Roar. One of the Spaniards punched Dennis Law, a Scottish hero who ranks with Robert the Bruce. "Off, off, off," roared the crowd demanding the suspension of the Spaniard.

The Spaniard stayed, but the crowd continued for nearly three minutes.

As the standard of play deteriorated, the spectators became critical. "That lad's got a' his brains in his feet," one fan commented. "Aye, and they're both deaf," his friend replied.

And another suggested, "We'd ha' bin better the ha' pit a big haggis at centre and said, 'That represents Scotland' — it could me be any worse than this lot."

But there were still howls of anger when Scots were fouled, and roars of approval when the Scots threatened to score. And this was Hampden less than half-filled.

On the way out of the park I expressed my amazement that a country of only 5,500,000 could generate such enthusiasm. "D'ye mean this night?" asked a native. "Och, mon, this wis nothing at all—you should see Hampden when we play the English."

They're Dodgers

Dick, Jeff Lou Who?

Sandy Koufax you know about but who are Wes Parker, Jim Lefebvre, Lou Johnson, Dick Tracewski, Darrell Griffith and Jeff Torborg?

Well, you'll know soon that they are more than spear-carriers if Los Angeles Dodgers get back into the world series act, something they are beginning to look capable of doing.

SECOND STEAL

Maury Wills scored the last run after beating out an infield hit and stealing second base. It was his second steal of the game and the 19th of the season as the Dodgers kept on making speed and pitching pay.

Cincinnati Reds failed to keep pace, losing, 6-7, to Philadelphia Phillies when third-baseman Deron Johnson threw wildly after fielding a 10th-inning bunt with two out and runners on third and first.

BIG BLASTERS

In San Francisco, Willie Mays continued to wow the fans as he boosted his batting average over .370 with his 11th home run and two doubles which led the Giants to a 6-3 win over Chicago Cubs.

The Giants had only eight hits but seven of them were for extra bases. Jay Alou and Tom Haller hit all home runs, Jim Hart hit a triple and Willie McCovey chipped in with a double.

BOX AGAIN

Chicago White Sox regained the American League lead by beating hapless Kansas City Athletics, 6-3. Although he again failed to finish, southpaw Gary Peters got credit for the victory to run his career record over the Athletics to 30-0.

Minnesota Twins slipped back by losing, 3-4, to Los Angeles Angels when Willie Smith scored rookie Jose Cardenal with a 10th-inning infield single. Defeat ended a five-game win streak for the Twins and pushed them a half game behind Chicago.

Only a Detroit display of power kept New York Yankees from dropping to ninth place.

YANKEES TUMBLE

The Yankees were tumbled, 6-1, by Boston Red Sox and stayed ahead of Washington Senators because the Tigers came up with a 14-hit attack to defeat the Solons, 13-3.

Whitey Ford, now 2-4 for the season, gave up all the Boston runs, three on a base-loaded triple by Felix Mantilla, in the third inning. Bill Horton, 22-year-old leftfielder, led the Tigers by driving in five runs with his sixth and seventh homers and a double.

New Westminster (CP) — A five-goal performance by unheralded Dave Tory gave New Westminster a 9-6 win over Vancouver in inter-city lacrosse league play here Thursday night.

Tory, a fast-moving centre, had spent most of his four-year career with New Westminster.

The win put New Westminster four points ahead of second-place Vancouver.

The win was brilliant in goal for New Westminster. Tory scored his fourth goal of the game to put New Westminster ahead, 6-4, and they kept rolling.

Power Boats to Circle Island

22 Victoria Colonist, Victoria
Friday, May 14, 1965

Race for Trophy, Fun

The Van-Isle race is a power boat event with a difference. Starting July 18, the three-week race is divided into two sections.

The first is from Nanaimo to Bull Harbor, at the north end of the Island, the second is from Bull Harbor, down the west coast of the Island and around to Victoria.

Winners in both sections will gather points toward the Jerry Bryant Skipper-of-the-Year Award.

About 50 boats are expected to take part this year.

As in a predicted log race, entrants must predict the time it will take them to reach each check-point.

There the similarity stops.

All along the course, yachtsmen may stop to fish, swim, camp, do some exploring, or just admire the scenery, and they are not penalized for the time they spend at it.

The event takes on the appearance of a yachtsmen's convention afloat.

The first day, entrants cruise from Nanaimo to Bull Harbor, about 30 miles.

That night, yachtsmen head off to a banquet and get-acquainted party.

June 19, the fleet heads for Stuart Island, about 64 miles.

June 20, the boats travel 62 miles through Greene Point Rapids and Whirlpool Rapids to Minstrel Island.

Next day the fleet travels a wide, circuitous 54-mile route through Satue and Retreat Passages to Sointula on Malcolm Island.

June 22, the boats dash for Port Hardy, and beyond that Bull Harbor, and the end of the first leg.

The race's final leg, from Bull Harbor to Victoria, will take the fleet two weeks to complete.

Only about one-third of the distance covered by the yachts will be on the course.

The rest will be taken up with scenic cruises among the islands and inlets of the west coast, fishing, exploring and camping.

Every craft will carry an observer, who will travel on different yachts during the day, and return to his home boat at night.

The International Power Boat Association, which organizes the race, has scheduled the finish and awards party in Victoria so contestants can go straight from the Van-Isle to the Gold Cup races in Seattle.

The Van-Isle race is run every two years, alternating with the Alaska Cruiser Race.

Physical Training Student To Apply Lessons at Port

PORT ALBERNI — A University of British Columbia student of physical training will put her lessons in practical use during four months active recreation work here.

Miss Margaret McLarty will work with parks and recreation under a federal-provincial fitness grant, said the department of education.

"Our city was the only one on Vancouver Island selected and one of five throughout the province. There were 33 parks and recreation departments throughout B.C. that indicated a willingness to accept a student," director Duncan Russell stated.

Mr. Russell has been asked by the Department of Extension and the Department of Community and Regional Planning at UBC to speak to members of the annual course of his lecture on May 20 on community planning for well-being and Parks.

Put Up Money Developers Told

CAMPBELL RIVER — Developers who want the district council here to rezone lots to suit building plans will have to put up performance bonds from now on before any action is taken.

The 10 per cent bond will be refunded to the developer when the council is convinced work will go ahead.

The new council took the action at its last meeting after Coun. Isobel Sandberg said: "We have previously taken time and expense to rezone another area recently and the company that was interested changed its mind. Once stung—twice shy."

An unnamed West Vancouver company applying through a Campbell River real estate company for rezoning of the old Willow Hotel property is likely first to feel the bite.

building with retail stores on the ground floor.

Meanwhile, Campbell River's first high-rise structure, a six-story addition to Discovery Inn, is due to open for business May 21.

Drivers Uninjured In Highway Crash

LADYSMITH — Two drivers narrowly escaped injury here Wednesday in a two-car highway collision.

Driver Dorothy L. Reiter of Ladysmith had stopped on the highway to make a left turn at Cedar Road when a car driven by Alexander M. MacKenzie of Victoria struck her vehicle, police said.

Other outstanding cadets of the Duncan corps were R. W. Deslaurier, best cadet; Cpl. Harold Sharp, best second-year cadet; Gerald Brown, best first-year cadet.

DUNCAN — David Else was elected president of the Duncan Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday, succeeding George Schmidt.

Other new officers are: Ernie Hamm, vice-president; Mike Kobl, secretary; Alan Hudson, treasurer; Ken McEwan and John Meadow, directors.

LAKE COWICHAN — The 14 boys of the 1st Lake Cowichan Cub Pack are sending up an SOS.

Mrs. Leo Porteinance, group committee leader, said two teaching leaders had been teaching the boys all year but that a full-time cubmaster is needed to take over in September.

Rev. Roy Rodgers officiated at the service, and burial was in Alberni Valley Memorial Gardens.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Graham, at the family's home, 37 Pleasant Road; two sisters, Mrs. Lynn Anker, Port Alberni, and Ruby, at home.

Business Report Answers Critics

Lumber Docks Worth Millions to Victoria

Lumber loading at Ogden Point docks, currently under fire from city merchants, last year brought the city revenue of about $2,000,000, an official of the Victoria Downtown Business Association reported Thursday.

Archie Wills, association managing secretary, said in a report on Ogden Point that the operation of stacking lumber at the docks is in itself worth $400,000 a year to the city.

Shifting the business to Cowichan Bay as has been proposed, could create unemployment, the report said.

Mr. Wills' investigation was prompted by a suggestion from Mayor R. B. Wilson during a recent address to the association. Mayor Wilson noted that merchants and property owners on Government Street have complained about the heavy lumber trucks and trailers using the street.

It has been suggested that this type of business could be diverted to Cowichan Bay.

Before any action is taken, Mayor Wilson said, it would be a good idea for someone to survey the Ogden Point lumber assembly to gauge its value to the city.

Some of Mr. Wills' findings:

• The lumber storage lease, held by Western Lumber Carriers, is worth $400,000 a year to Victoria.

• B.C. Forest Products, one of the main suppliers of lumber to the docks, employs a minimum of 150 men whose ranks are swelled in the summer by about 200 students. Because of stiff competition in the industry, Mr. Wills was told, diverting the company's lumber to Cowichan Bay would create a serious problem and might be "the straw that broke the camel's back."

• One hundred and sixty longshoremen work at the Ogden Point lumber assembly, drawing an annual $1,200,000 in wages.

• Last year 273 ships called at Ogden Point for lumber, each paying an average of $1,000 in berthing charges.

• The ships' more than 8,000 personnel received pay advances, some of which they spent in town. Shipping company officials often came to Victoria to visit the ships, each spending perhaps $40 daily in the city.

• Three local trucking companies do considerable business with the Ogden Point lumber assembly—an estimated $60,000 annually.

• No one Mr. Wills spoke to opposed the development of the lumber assembly at Cowichan Bay. Consensus was that both assemblies soon will be hard-pressed to handle the lumber cargoes that are available.

Operation Doorstep

All Cowichan Covered By Chest Clinic

COWICHAN VALLEY — Operation Doorstep started in the Ladysmith district Thursday and will continue through various areas in the Cowichan Valley until June 12.

Building Declines In Alberni

ALBERNI — A sharp drop in construction put building figures for the first four months of 1965 behind the same period last year.

April permits totalled only $3,120 in construction projects while April figures for 1964 showed $217,835.

Construction totals for this year are $275,945 compared with 1964's $275,354.

All adults will be offered a free TB skin test and chest X-ray. Children from six months of age up will be offered a skin test only.

VITAL FOR ALL

Officials in the local districts point out that it is particularly important that all children, adults over 50 years of age, and those born outside of Canada have these tests.

The X-rays will be examined by a chest specialist of the B.C. department of health, not only for tuberculosis but for any chest condition that may be present including lung cancer and heart disease.

Early diagnosis is extremely important in all these conditions, say doctors.

SEAL SALE

This free service is made possible by the annual sale of Christmas seals conducted by the Kiwanis Club on behalf of the B.C. TB-Christmas Seal Society.

Two mobile clinics will be in the following areas in Ladysmith:

Friday, May 14: post office, 1-4 and 5-6 p.m.; Bayview at the Crescent, 1-4 p.m., and First Avenue at Roberts, 5-6 p.m.

Saturday, May 15: post office, 10-12 noon and 1 to 5 p.m.; First Avenue at Roberts, 10 to 12 noon and 1 to 5 p.m.

Monday, May 17: Crofton post office, 1 to 4 p.m. and 5 to 8 p.m.; Wastholme post office, 1 to 4 p.m.; Crofton Road at Chemainus Road, 5 to 8 p.m.

Chemainus area: Tuesday, May 18: municipal office, 1 to 4 and 5 to 8 p.m.

Wednesday, May 19: municipal hall, 1 to 4 and 5 to 9 p.m.; Oak at Croft, 1 to 4 and 5 to 9 p.m.

Thursday, May 20: municipal hall, 1 to 4 and 5 to 9 p.m.; Oak at Croft, 1 to 4 and 5 to 9 p.m.

The clinic will be in the Lake Cowichan area from May 25 to 28; Shawnigan Lake-Mill Bay areas on May 31; Cobble Hill, Cowichan Station, Cowichan Bay, Cherry Point, Paldi, Glenora, Maple Bay, Kokanish and northern areas in North Cowichan from June 1 to 9 and in the city of Duncan from June 8 to 12.

Road-e-o Prizes Worth $200

DUNCAN — The Junior Chamber of Commerce unit here is offering prizes worth $200 to winners of the sixth annual Safe Driving Road-e-o set for 30-31 a.m. Sunday at the Safeway parking lot.

A Jaycee spokesman said entries will close at the same time. The judges will be: Ed Smith, Tom Pringle and Corp. Colin Smith of the Duncan RCMP detachment.

The organizing committee consists of: Don Merry, Lorne Stretch, Gus Townsend, John Meadom, Charles Worsley and Ajetz Ewana. The local top winner will take part in the B.C. Championship at Nelson June 5.

FOR TEEN-AGERS

The Road-e-o program is open to any teenage girl or boy without traffic violation in the past six months and who has not reached the age of 20 by July 14, which is the date for this year's national championship at Toronto.

Winners there are eligible for three scholarships totalling $2,500. Last year 30,000 young Canadian drivers took part in the Road-e-o program across the country.

Cobble Hill

School Buses Run As Close as Before

COBBLE HILL — Most children involved in school system changes here will have no farther to walk to school bus stops before, parents were told here Wednesday night.

Some of the 50 members at the meeting of Cobble Hill United Parent-Teacher Association had expressed concern over changes in bus service.

The new elementary school system involves a switch to single-grade classrooms in three schools, Bayview (grades one and two); Cobble Hill (grades three, four and five) and Mill Bay (grades six and seven).

During the business meeting the association agreed to donate $50 towards the PTA bursary fund, and two trophies will be purchased for the boy and girl aggregate winners in the forthcoming local southern district and Duncan sports meets.

Also addressing the membership was Doug Kitson, who spoke on the forthcoming TB Mobile Clinic, giving skin tests and X-rays. The clinic will be in the Bayview-Mill Bay area May 31 and at Cobble Hill June 1.

CLINIC ASSISTANTS

The association agreed to provide assistants to help the clinic staff when they visit the area.

Guests were Art Jones, superintendent of schools; Gerald Patterson, a trustee of the Cowichan district school board, and Mrs. Eleanor Merry, primary grades counsellor.

"We are pleased other facilities were readily available," he added.

NON-POLITICAL

Asked why the cancellation had been made, St. John Ambulance vice-chairman Col. J. W. D. Symons said: "We are a non-political organization. We are not organized to aid organizations that are political or controversial."

He would not say whether the cancellation had come from the Vancouver provincial office or from local officers.

Col. Symons first knew of the

Cuban Ship Sunk Three Men Killed

MIAMI (UPI) — A radio distress call picked up here Thursday night reported three men killed in an air-sea attack on a Cuban coastal freighter, but the incident could not be confirmed.

The coast guard said it was sending a plane to the area.

Rebels Hit By Rockets

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Five Dominican Junta P-51 fighter planes twice strafed rebel targets with rocket fire in downtown Santo Domingo Thursday. U.S. anti-aircraft batteries opened fire when the attackers flew low over their positions.

Two American paratroopers were reported killed in a shooting incident with rebels, apparently inside the rebel-held area in downtown Santo Domingo.

State department spokesman Richard Phillips said the United States considered the air attack a violation of the formal cease-fire signed by rival Dominican military factions May 5. He said the attacks violated U.S. efforts to establish a stable government here.

U.S. DENIAL

(In Washington, the defense department said that no F-100 Mustangs, as the planes now are called, had been given to the Dominican Republic under U.S. military aid programs.)

(He said the fighters must have been purchased privately, probably during the regime of the late Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, who was assassinated four years ago.)

Phillips declined that both he Menace from Heaven?

Some said it was a bomb, some said it was a joke; but the little white box on the end of a brilliant orange parachute certainly sparked up a dull afternoon when it quietly drifted down at Hillside and Cook Friday.

A crowd of children and a Victoria police constable stood watch under the object from the heavens as it rested in a tree.

"I'll have to make a dive for it if it comes down," said Const. Frank Grivel as he watched the object sway in the wind. "It might be valuable."

"What is it?" somebody asked. "Your guess is as good as mine," said the constable. After 30 minutes firemen arrived and brought it down.

Those who hoped the little box would contain the message: "Help, help. I'm prisoner in a Martian salt-mine" were away disappointed.

The little box said only "return this weather transmitter to the United States government." R.E.V.P.

Rewards Total Thousands For Spotting Lemay

OTTAWA (UPI) — Rewards of at least $2,000 and probably "quite a bit more" are available in Canada for the arrest of Lemay.

In the rice lands 128 miles southwest of Saigon, government forces skirmished with a rebel battalion near Bao Lao, a commercial centre of 14,000.

One U.S. adviser and 16 Vietnamese soldiers were reported wounded and 16 Viet Cong killed.

AIR HELPS

A U.S. spokesman said the troops were pinned down for an hour by heavy fire, but air strikes neutralized the Viet Cong positions.

Far to the north, U.S. Marines ambushed a patrol of guerrillas who were probing outer defenses of the Da Nang air base before dawn.

ARMED WOUND

In an apparently unrelated incident, a Marine guard was wounded in the thigh by a 13-inch-long arrow of a type fired by hill tribesmen.

Sporadic action persisted in the region of Song Be, a provincial capital 74 miles north of Saigon. Snipers shot at government positions in the town early in the day and others shot at planes from the jungles south of Song Be.

LODI, Wis. (UPI) — A car and a school bus carrying more than 60 children collided Thursday at a country road intersection, killing Mrs. Florence Benzinger, who was driving the car, and injuring 44 children.

POLICE SEARCH NIGHT AND DAY

Police have "hundreds" of leads to check out as the round-the-clock search for the killer of 14-year-old Susan Freischl moves into its third day.

"One lead means as much as another," said an RCMP official, as 10 officers, both uniformed men and Criminal Investigation Branch investigators, spent every waking hour on the case.

Cyprus Talks Pressed

LONDON (CP) — A Canadian peace initiative for embattled Cyprus gained momentum Thursday.

Foreign Minister Stavros Kostopoulos of Greece announced a second meeting with Foreign Minister Hassan Esat Iahik of Turkey Thursday night and said he hopes to maintain diplomatic communications with him on the Cyprus question.

NAIVE

At a press conference, Kostopoulos had a word of caution, saying "it would be rather naive to think that with a limited number of meetings we could solve this rather complex problem."

Greece and Turkey have been at loggerheads on the Cyprus question for 16 months but the dispute took a turn for the better during the NATO ministerial meeting here when Canada's external affairs minister, Paul Martin, said he would try to bring about a private meeting between the two foreign ministers.

Kostopoulos said he hopes to consider with Iahik the possibility of Cyprus being discussed by Greece and Turkey at the United Nations under a chairman appointed by Secretary-General U Thant.

OPTIMISTIC

Martin said before his return to Canada Thursday he was more optimistic than ever that negotiations might get started.

Canada has more than 1,100 troops in the UN peace force in Cyprus and the job of peace-making is regarded as a UN affair. But NATO is involved, since Turkey and Greece are both members.
